Troop Upkeep Talks Tightly Deadlocked

...America Asks A Prompt $600 Million

By Loyal Gould

Bonn, Germany (AP) — U.S.-West German economic talks became deadlocked Tuesday night over a Bonn government refusal to contribute $600 million immediately toward the upkeep of American troops in this country.

The West Germans argued they would not deliver such a sum on short notice.

Britain was reported planning to make similar demands on the prosperous Germans.

U.S. economic negotiators temporarily brushed aside German offers of increased outlays for foreign aid, which would not release dollars to help the declining gold position of the U.S. treasury.

Best Solution

The Americans maintained that Washington's balance of payments troubles can best be solved by a healthy German contribution to the annual $700 million cost of maintaining U.S. forces here on the edge of the Iron Curtain.

All told, the Americans are said to want nearly $1.5 billion from Bonn at once to pay for troops and aid the West's program to help underdeveloped countries. The Germans are offering about $1 billion — spread over 4 years.

As for the troop costs, the Germans offered to pay about one-quarter of the $600 million request and would prefer instead to pay a larger share of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) defense costs, informants said.

Another Day of Talks

A German source reported. "It was doubtful at the outset that agreement could be reached on such a difficult subject in a short two-day meeting."

The talks continue for another day, and the U.S. team then goes on to Paris and London for similar discussions.

Informants said the U.S. experts, led by Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon, reached "no worthwhile meeting of minds" with the German team, headed by Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard.

The talks are designed to relieve the U.S. balance of payments deficit which reached an annual rate of $4.3 billion in the third quarter of 1960.

—U.N. PLEDGES ORDER—

Mobutu Mob Roving Congo

Leopoldville, The Congo (AP)—Col. Joseph Mobutu's victorious army roved through Leopoldville Tuesday, arresting and beating scores of United Nations officials in revenge for the death of their field commander in an all-night battle with U.N. troops.

With the Congo army attacking the official residence of Ghana, the world organization backed down on its pledge to protect the diplomatic immunity of Ghana's Charge D'affaires, Nathaniel Welbeck, an ally of deposed premier Patrice Lumumba. Welbeck flew home Tuesday morning on orders from Mobutu after the young colonel's troops had forced him from the residence that was guarded by U.N. troops.

Despite this setback, the United Nations reaffirmed its pledge to maintain order in the Congo. Machine gun units were posted at U.N. offices.

But U.N. officials fell victim to rampaging bands of Congolese soldiers. They were pulled from their cars and homes. Some were beaten savagely. One group of 30 returning late from a party—including 3 U.N. girls—was locked in a room all night by the soldiers. The group was released in the morning.

Officials Held

Twelve other U.N. officials were held throughout the day at Camp Leopold.

Despite his success in making good on the expulsion order against Welbeck, Mobutu faced the problem of subduing his rampaging troops, defying his orders to refrain from violence.

A U.N. spokesman said Mobutu, who is striving to maintain his role as the Congo's strongman, had issued orders to his men to halt the violence.

The United Nations found itself fighting the Congolese army after promising to protect the safety of all officials, Congolese and foreign, including Welbeck.

25 Killed

In the battle, one Tunisian U.N. soldier and at least 4 Congolese were killed. Eight Tunisians were wounded.

One Congolese casualty was Col. Joseph Kokolo. His body was not recovered for a number of hours, and his disappearance raised primitive suspicions among the troops.

When Welbeck was escorted to the Soviet plane that came to take him back to Ghana, Congolese Lt. Andre Ikuku went to the craft and demanded a final word with the envoy.

"What have you done with our colonel?" asked the lieutenant.

—Kasavubu Seated—

Victory Scored By West

U.N. Hands Russian Bloc 53-24 Setback

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly Tuesday night gave its vacant Congo seat to a delegation headed by President Joseph Kasavubu.

By a vote of 53 to 24 with 19 abstentions the assembly upheld a recommendation of its credentials committee that it seat Kasavubu.

The vote represented a victory for the United States and other Western supporters of Kasavubu, and a defeat for the Soviet bloc and a considerable number of Asian-African nations.

Just before the vote was taken the U.N.'s Asian-African conciliation commission decided to delay its scheduled departure Tuesday night for Leopoldville on a peace-making mission.

Letter To Dag

The decision to postpone the departure came after Kasavubu sent a letter to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold objecting to dispatch of the mission at this time to the violence-wracked Congo.

Earlier the assembly beat down a last ditch attempt to adjourn debate pending a report from Hammarskjold on anti-U.N. violence in the Congo. Ghana made the move with support of the Soviet bloc.

Immediately after the vote Mali announced its withdrawal from the conciliation commission, and a meeting of the advisory committee was called to consider the over-all situation. It is made up of all nations who have contributed troops to the 20,000-man U.N. Congo force.

Refusal To Vote

Jaja Wuchuku, Nigerian delegate who was named chairman of the conciliation group, refused to take part in the vote on approval of the credentials committee's recommendation.

He told the Assembly he could not do so as head of the conciliation mission, or as a representative of an African country.

The young Nigeria diplomat expressed sorrow at the split in the African group on the vote.

'Honor Farm Family' Has Royal Welcome

By Glenn Kreuscher
Farm Editor

Just like being named King and Queen for a day, with all the fine things reserved for royalty added for good measure.

This was the description given by the Robert Hoagland family of Hastings Tuesday in Lincoln where they were named the 15th Nebraska Honor Farm Family.

The annual award was presented to the Hoagland family at a noon luncheon held at the University Club where they received their $500 award from the Sunday Journal and Star, presented by Walter White, publisher of The Lincoln Star and Fred Seacrest, co-publisher of the Lincoln Journal.

Presentation of the honor farm family award coincided with Farm-City Week. Special mention of the value of farm-city relationships was made by Mayor Bartlett E. Boyles and Governor Dwight Burney who welcomed the Honor Farm Family on their tour of the city.

A tightly packed day included a morning tour of Equity Union Grain Co. followed by a morning coffee and a tour of the Journal-Star Publishing Co.

The noon luncheon was attended by Gov. Burney, Chancellor Clifford Hardin, Mayor Boyles and other representatives of the city, state and University of Nebraska.

Special guests at the noon luncheon included friends of the family and representatives of Lincoln's 40 million bushel grain industry.

During the afternoon the family was guest of Governor Burney who presented an Admiral's commission in the Nebraska Navy.

A tour of the College of Agriculture was followed by an afternoon tea on the campus in their honor.

Robert Hoagland, in response as his family was named 1960 Honor Farm Family, said, "This is one of the finest honors that could be bestowed on a farm family, we shall forever cherish the award and be appreciative of the many considerations received on our visit to the Capitol City."

The Honor Farm Family was nominated by Jim McDougal of Hastings, agricultural director with the City National Bank of Hastings.

Man Dies While Burning Weeds Near Polk Farm

Lincoln Star Special

Polk—Walter Hoffman, about 55, died Tuesday evening while burning weeds along the roadside near his farm home, 7 miles south of Polk.

Apparently the blaze got away from Mr. Hoffman and he was overcome as he battled the flames which spread to a nearby corn field. He was found lying on his back in the corn field.

Survivors include his wife and a son, Curtis of Polk.

Wagon Kills Farmer, 67

Lincoln Star Special

Beatrice—A 67-year-old Gage County farmer was killed Tuesday when he was run over and killed by a corn-filled wagon.

Harold Holland, who farmed about 7½ miles east of Beatrice, was apparently trying to stop the wagon-load of corn when its momentum knocked him down and the wagon axle pinned him beneath the load.

Gage County Sheriff Fred Steinkamp said the farmer was dead when he was found in the corn field by his wife.

Steinkamp said that the farmer had apparently unhooked the wagon from the cornpicker and tractor and left it on the side of the hill. He then apparently shut off the tractor and picker a short distance away and tried to stop the wagon which had begun to roll.

ONASSIS VISITS CHURCHILL; SEES GOOD PROGRESS

London (AP) — Greek ship owner Aristotle Onassis spent two hours with his friend Sir Winston Churchill Tuesday and told reporters the former prime minister is well.

"He is resting," said Onassis, "and you can say he's very well."

Churchill, who will be 86 in another 8 days, slipped on a rug in his bedroom a week ago and broke a small bone in his back.

Expect Grubbs To Leave Post

...JOHNSON MAY BE KEPT

By Don Walton

William E. Grubbs is expected to resign his post as state insurance director at the conclusion of his two-year term in January.

Governor-elect Frank Morrison conferred with Grubbs Tuesday in connection with departmental policies.

Following the conference neither the Democratic governor-elect nor Grubbs would comment on the insurance director's future plans.

Meanwhile, Morrison strongly indicated that he will retain Forrest A. Johnson as state tax commissioner.

Generally speaking, the newly-elected chief executive said, "I do not look for any widespread disruption" in key departmental positions.

Speculation has already pointed to the retention of State Agriculture Director Pearle Finigan.

Grubbs — an appointee of the late Democratic Gov. Ralph Brooks — is expected to reveal his plans for the future later this week.

Very Outspoken

The 33-year-old former Scottsbluff attorney has been one of the Brooks administration's most outspoken departmental chiefs.

Grubbs has drawn particular praise for standing his ground in the highly-publicized scrap with the Woodmen of the World (WOW) Life Insurance Society, a struggle now apparently resolved.

Johnson, 43, was appointed by Gov. Brooks 11 months ago — but his appointment has never been confirmed by the Legislature, and is therefore temporary.

"I have received many communications and comments from both Republicans and Democrats commenting on the very fine work being done by Forrest Johnson," Morrison noted.

"People have generally gone out of their way to commend him to me. They have expressed the belief that he should be retained."

The governor-elect is expected to submit Brooks' appointment to the 1961 Legislature for action, if none is taken at the special session next month.

Unexpired Term

Johnson is serving the unexpired portion of a 6-year term which concludes in September of 1963. He is salaried at $10,000 annually.

The tax commissioner, a former mayor of Fremont (1955-59), is a practicing attorney and former president of the League of Nebraska Municipalities.

Morrison also conferred Tuesday with State Veterinarian Dr. F. E. Zeigenbein.

The governor-elect will begin naming department heads early next month.

Kids Stay In Class; Zoo Goes To Them

Philadelphia (AP)—It was like no school bus anybody had ever seen before. Instead of wearing the sober orange color of the orthodox bus, this one was bedecked with sportive animals figures.

And the way the driver was behaving, giving his cap a raffish tilt and calling out: "Hey, you animals, stop acting like a bunch of kids."

He wasn't kidding.

In the back of the bus were a cockatoo, a chimpanzee, two small monkeys, a kangaroo, a rabbit, a skunk, a boa constrictor and a baby llama.

The bus was bound from the zoo to a junior high school. At the wheel was William Maloney, superintendent of the special section for children at the zoo. With him were several helpers.

It was the kickoff of an experiment based on the idea that if you can't always get the kids to the zoo, take the zoo to the kids. It has the approval of the school board's division of audio-visual education, working with the zoological society.

Once the lively cargo was delivered, the pupils were freed from regular classes into a special assembly. Howls of joy greeted the animals' appearance on stage, especially when the llama was let loose, the skunk allowed to scamper about, and the kangaroo brought front and center to show how its young are carried in a pouch.

The novel program lasted an hour. The first half was strictly live, the second pictorial. Movies showed lions, tigers, elephants and other animals not easily brought into a school assembly.

The zoo-to-school program—acclaimed a big success—will start officially on Dec. 1. Officials said it is booked solidly for every school day until the end of February.

STUDENTS FLEE LINCOLN FOR TURKEY TIME

Thousands of college students have deserted Lincoln in favor of their home towns and a turkey dinner.

Thanksgiving vacation began on the University of Nebraska and Nebraska Wesleyan campuses Tuesday, leaving classrooms and dormitories empty.

Union College students will head for home following their last class Wednesday, and public and parochial schools will be dismissed on Thursday and Friday for the holiday.

Board Asks $4.3 Million Budget Hike

The Nebraska Board of Control estimated it would need an increase of $4,555,587 in funds for its operations for the 1961-63 biennium.

The total budget submitted Tuesday to Tax Commissioner Forrest Johnson requested $38,705,197 for the next two years beginning July 1, 1961 compared to $33,962,799 appropriated for the 1959-61 biennium, an increase of slightly over 12.5%.

The budget included $36,642,782 to run the 15 major institutions and the mental health clinics at Scottsbluff, North Platte and Hastings, a 4,048,893 increase over the amount estimated to be spent for the present biennium.

Source of funds to run the institutions and clnics was: $16,923,182 from the general fund; $4,044,600 from the institution cash fund and $15,675,000 from the special county levy.

Board Vice Chairman Harold Peterson said increases were due mainly to salary hikes and increases in the cost of living and operating expenses.

Institutions List Fund Needs, P. 9

In its letter to Governor Burney, the board said the increase would continue present operations "with a normal increase in services to the state."

Also included in the budget was $87,960 to place the Scottsbluff clinic in complete operation. The board said it "looks very encouraging that we will be able, between now and the first of July, to assemble a staff for that clinic."

Although the total budget request showed an increase of over 12.5%, the amount from the general fund supported by a tax levy was considerably greater.

It showed an increase of 32.5% from $13,252,501 to $17,538,259.

Other sources of revenue for the total budget were $15,675,000 from the county tax levies for care of mental patients and $4,050,100 in receipts estimated to be brought in from the institution cash fund.

It Carries 16 Polaris Missiles—

Most Powerful Sub Launched

. . . First Skirmish With Group Of Pacifists

Groton, Conn. (AP)—The Navy's most powerful Polaris missile submarine, which will have increased firing range, was launched Tuesday and had its first skirmish—with a group of pacifists.

Two of the pacifisits swam to the nuclear-powered Ethan Allen and boarded it minutes after the gaily decorated craft slid down the ways into the Thames river. They were removed quickly.

Lemnitzer

The Ethan Allen, named for the American Revolutionary War hero, is the first of a new line fleet ballistic missile subs that will have a firing range of 1,500 miles or more. It displaces 6,900 tons.

1,725-Mile Range

The $110,000,000 craft, and the rest of her 4 sister ships, will carry the new A-2 polaris missile, which is expected to have a range up to 1,725 miles. The older subs have the 1,380-mile A-1 Polaris.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told a crowd about 5,000 at the launching ceremony that the United States must maintain and increase its military strength in all its forms.

"The communist leaders have respect for only one thing — military power," he said. "I believe that the only effective restraint now or in the future on the leaders of the Kremlin and Peking is fear of the consequences in the exercise of military power."

The Ethan Allen's power will come from her 16 A-2 carry an atomic payload. missiles, each of which will The A-2, now undergoing testing at Cape Canaveral, Fla., is scheduled to become operational in 1962. A 2,875-mile model is planned for two years after that.

Climb Up Bunting

The two pacifist who boarded the Ethan Allen were William Henry, 27, of Lodi, Wis., and Donald Martin, 20, of Wellesley, Mass. They swam to the side of the 410-foot-long craft and climbed the bunting draped on the sides.

Earlier, Henry and Martin and 7 other self-styled pacifists made an unsuccessful effort to interfere with the launching itself.

Henry Martin and the 7 others, including a college coed, were taken to New Haven after their arrest and arraigned before a U.S. commissioner on charges of invading a launching area declared off-limits by the Coast Guard.

Appearing in shabby dress —Martin was still in bathing trunks—the youths were ordered held at the New Haven State Jail for a U. S. District Court hearing next Monday morning.

48th, Dudley Crossing Will BeRedesigned

The City Council has approved redesigning of the 48th and Dudley intersection.

The decision came following strong protests by area citizens that the intersection was dangerous to school children.

The redesign will cost about $500 and includes a school crossing sign, overhead signal lights and "walk and wait" signals for pedestrians.

Jack Botts, representing Riley School parents, said he and his group felt the improvements would help the situation but that an underground crossing should be considered as the eventual solution.

Psychiatric Study Is Ordered For Mailer

. . . Author Facing Breakdown, Doctor Says

New York (AP) — Novelist Norman Mailer, accused of stabbing his wife, was taken to Bellevue Hospital Tuesday for psychiatirc observation. A physician said he appeared to be having a breakdown and was "both homicidal and suicidal."

Felony Court Magistrate Reuben Levy ordered the mental examination after the 37-year-old author of the best seller "The Naked and the Dead" appeared in court on a felonious assault charge.

He is accused of stabbing his wife with a penknife during a party early Sunday. Mrs. Mailer, listed in critical condition, at first told physicians she was injured when she fell on broken glass.

"My pride is that as a sane man I can explore areas of experience that other men are afraid of," Mailer told the magistrate. "I insist I am sane."

The novelist has had several encounters with police lately. A week ago he was arrested at a jazz night club, Birdland, on a disorderly charge after he argued over a bill.

Cuba Makes A New Grab

Havana (AP) — The Cuban government has seized the American-owned Havana Dock Corp., worth an estimated $9.5 million, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said Tuesday.

The government alleged that the owner, William Behn, formerly of New York, had abandoned his enterprise. Behn's office said he went to the United States on a business trip and planned to come back here.

The corporation ran the biggest dock facilities in Havana, including the San Francisco dock, where ferries sailing between Cuba and Florida put in.

Thus far the Castro regime has intervened in or nationalized more than $1.5 billion worth of American-owned property.

Laos Will Seek Help From Russ

Red Envoy Says: 'Happy To Oblige'

Vientiane, Laos (AP)—Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma said Tuesday his neutralist government will ask the Soviet Union for all the aid—economic, military or otherwise—it is willing to give.

Soviet Ambassador Alexander N. Abramov flew into Vientiane a few hours later and said his country will be "only too happy to oblige."

Souvanna told newsmen his hard-pressed government needs "all the aid we can get." Asked if this would include military aid, he replied:

"Yes, all the aid we can get. We are short of everything. Our goods are being held up by Thailand's blockade and we need everything."

Souvanna said he will evade the Thai blockade by flying the Russian supplies in from the communist North Vietnamese cities of Hanoi and Haiphong.

Souvanna charges that American aid, poured into this southeast Asian kingdom to the tune of $270 million since 1954, has been going in greater amounts lately to the rebel right-wing regime of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan in Savannakhet.

The U.S. Embassy here says the aid agreement is to supply the entire Laotian Army, even though it is split between the general and the premier.

Miles Traveled On Rural Roads Dips In October

Total rural miles traveled daily in Nebraska increased 5% during October compared to the same month last year, the State Department of Roads reported.

Calculated from 15 measuring devices at various locations, the department reported the largest gainer as Nebraska 2 and 92 west of Broken Bow, up 33%.

The comparative increase was caused by bad weather in the area during October of last year, the department said.

The largest loser, as in past months, was U.S. 6 north of Gretna, down 62%. The department said the decrease was caused by a large amount of local traffic taking the Gretna-Omaha segment of the Interstate highway.

GOOD DAY FOR TURK TRACKING

More fair weather is in store for Lincolnites Wednesday, according to the Weather Bureau.

Warmer weather with fair skies is expected during the day and into the evening Wednesday, the high to be in the 50s.

Sidney recorded an inch of snow Tuesday morning, along with the state's low temperature of 12 degrees. Traces of light snow also were reported elsewhere in the Panhandle.

Beatrice and Broken Bow recorded the state high of 48 Tuesday. Lincoln had a high of 46 Tuesday and a low of 23.

Lots Of Plans Put Turks On Military Table

Washington (AP)— Thanksgiving Day turkey dinners are ready for the roasting wherever American servicemen are stationed on land, on sea and under the seas in submarines.

For the 2,502,145 men and women in uniform, Army Quartermasters purchased enough turkeys to provide nine-tenths of a pound for each one.

Planning the Thanksgiving Day dinner started last summer when the Army Quartermasters, food purchaser for all of the services, started buying the traditional birds. Shipments to overseas areas began early in October and all of the trimmings necessary to round out a full holiday dinner have long since reached even the most distant military post.

The Army and the Air Force use the same menus. The Navy and Marine Corps plan their own.

Here's the approved Army-Air Force menu for Thursday:

Shrimp cocktail with hot sauce and crackers.

Roast turkey with giblet gravy, bread dressing and cranberry sauce.

Mashed potatoes, orange glazed sweet potatoes, buttered peas and broccoli.

Assorted relishes.

Hot rolls and butter.

Pumpkin pie with whipped cream, mince meat pie and fruit cake.

Assorted fruits, dates, candy and nuts.

Tea, coffee and milk.

Cuban Press Turns Attack On Kennedy

. . . Chill In Relations With Russia Denied

Havana (UPI) — The government-controlled press launched new editorial attacks on U.S. President-elect John F. Kennedy Tuesday, while at the same time denying rumors abroad of a possible chill in relations between Cuba and the Soviet Union.

The Communist daily "Hoy" said there was "no basis in fact" for what it said was an "American imperialist campaign" to make people abroad think Soviet-Cuban relations "are more apparent than real, more symbolic than true, move vocal than actual."

The U.S. has definitely been put on notice "that any direct Yankee imperialist interference with Cuba, any attempt to use its military superiority against the Cuban people and revolution will bring a rain of Soviet rockets on U.S. soil," the newspaper said.

At the same time, the newspaper Revolucion lampooned Kennedy as "another Eisenhower-type, golfer-politician." The newspaper, official organ of Castro's 26th of July Party, said Kennedy was getting his "pre-presidential 'training' at Palm Beach."

The new anti-American blasts coincided with an announcement in Washington that the U.S. is prepared to keep its special naval patrol in the Caribbean for "an indefinite time."

CROSSFIELD RE-LIGHTS X15 DURING TEST

Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. (AP) — Test pilot Scott Crossfield flew the X15 rocket ship with its new space engine wide open for a few seconds Tuesday, but cut it off before he set records.

Then for the first time he re-lighted the engine in the air—a feat which could save a pilot's life if the engine failed in flight.

North American Aviation Inc. said Crossfield held the speed to 1,800 miles an hour.

He went nearly 2,000 mph Nov. 15, date of his first flight with the big engine, when he shot to nearly 80,000 feet at half throttle and with the air-brake flaps wide open.

Tuesday Crossfield was at a much lower altitude — 62,000 feet — which allowed the brakes to be more effective despite the increased power.

Most Governors To Have Reps At Morrison Meeting

Most midwestern governors will attend or send representatives to the proposed Bread Basket Governors Conference in Lincoln Dec. 12, Clair Callan of Odell said Tuesday night.

Callan is in charge of arrangements for the meeting called by Governor-elect Frank Morrison.

Governor-elect John Anderson of Kansas is the only governor who has thus far definitely indicated he will attend, Callan said.

Robert Lewis will represent the governor of Wisconsin.

Heads of national farmer organizations have also been invited, along with former Lincolnite Ted Sorensen, special counsel to President-elect Kennedy.

James Allen Sr., Valley Stockman, Dies Suddenly

Omaha (AP) — James Allen Sr., 78, Valley farmer and livestock feeder and one of the first pump irrigators in eastern Nebraska died during a routine medical checkup at a doctor's office Tuesday.

He had been in poor health for many years and had a heart condition. He was a retired member of the Omaha Stock Yards National Bank and a former Valley school board member.

Several years ago he was picked as a Firestone champion farmer in a national selection.

Hamilton Ground Water Use Surpassing Replaced Amount

Washington (AP) — The Interior Department reported Tuesday that use of ground water for irrigation in Hamilton County, Nebraska, has increased to the point where water is being pumped out faster than it is being replaced.

The geological survey report was prepared in co-operation with the University of Nebraska.

It says about one-third of the county is now irrigated, but the average annual amount of replenishment is believed to be enough to irrigate only one-ninth of the county.

About 1,200 wells were pumped during the summer of 1957 to irrigate about 113,000 acres, the report shows. Most of the water to recharge the ground-water reservoir comes in the form of precipitation.

Water-bearing deposits are thickest in a broad buried channel crossing the center of the county from west to east. Sand and gravel make up a considerable part of the saturated deposits and yield water freely to wells.

The Interior Department report is based on data on all irrigation and public-supply wells in the county in 1957, plus many domestic and stock wells.

'Tish' Holds First News Conference

Letitia 'Tish' Baldrige, formerly of Omaha, holds her first Washington news conference since she was appointed White House social secretary by the incoming first lady, Mrs. John Kennedy. Miss Baldrige, and old friend and former schoolmate of the wife of the president-elect, told reporters that Mrs. Kennedy plans to make the White House a showplace for great American art and artists. Miss Baldrige is the daughter of former Nebraska Republican Rep. H. Malcolm Baldrige, onetime Omahan now of Washington.

Clamp Down On Adult Drivers, Youths Urge

Omaha (AP)—It's all right to clamp down on the young driving offender, but what about the adult delinquent.

This was one of the main questions raised by students at Omaha's South High School Tuesday as the student council tackled the driving situation.

Many of the comments reflected some anger by the teen-agers at what is considered persecution of young drivers.

"It's all right to clamp down on kids but how about adults? Every one behind the wheel should be subject to the same punishment," was a typical comment.

Traffic safety has been occupying many Omahans in the last few weeks. The big emphasis came after two auto smashups involving teenagers. Six young people died in an Elmwood Park crash. A later collision injured 8 persons.

Omaha schools Superintendent Harry Burke suggested that one solution to the problem would be separating boys from automobiles.

Omaha Banker's Wife Dies At 53

Omaha (AP) — Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Birch Thomas, 53, wife of Bruce H. Thomas, vice president of the Omaha National Bank, died Tuesday at a local hospital.

Besides her husband, she is survived by two sons, Lawrence B., and James Thomas, and her mother, Mrs. Chester Birch, all of Omaha.

Funeral services will be at the Burket Chapel at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Omaha Girl Believed Slain In 'Frisco Murder-Suicide

San Francisco (AP) — A young couple was found shot to death, side by side near a vase of sweetheart roses and chrysanthemums, in a one-room apartment.

Each wore a necklace of black and white beads. A 22-caliber pistol lay near them.

Coroner's deputies said Beatrice Dreager, 27, of Omaha, Neb., and Paul Stannard, 22, of Glastonbury, Conn., had been dead about 30 hours. Officers believe Stannard shot the girl and then killed himself.

Manning D. Murray apartment house manager, found the bodies when he came to collect rent. He said he believed Stannard was jobless. Rent on the $70-a-month apartment was a week overdue, he added.

Miss Dreager was clothed in a new white nightgown, Stannard in underclothing. The bodies lay on a thin mattress pad on the floor in front of panels painted to resemble church windows.

The woman had been shot in the chest and head. Stannard was shot in the mouth.

Police said his moneyless wallet held a pawn ticket for a girl's engagement ring.

The apartment was immaculate. Although sparsely furnished, it contained an expensive stereo hi-fi set, a large collection of jazz and classical records and a jar of paint brushes.

Records in Omaha listed the girl's full name as Carolyn Beatrice Dreager, 27, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dreager Omaha.

The father said she went to San Francisco about 6 months ago to work as a waitress and the family has had no hint anything was wrong. He said she had called home a few days ago.

Once At Offutt

Dreager said he did not believe he knew Stannard. Mrs. Dreager said her daughter had met Stannard when he was stationed at Offutt Air Force Base here, but he had since left the service.

The girl had been married and divorced.

Omaha Police said Miss Dreager formerly was married to Burton Finney, onetime senior class president and football star at a Sioux City, Ia. high school.

INVESTIGATOR SAYS PARKER IS INNOCENT

Omaha (AP)—A Red Oak, Iowa, private investigator told the Omaha Dundee Kiwanis Club that he is convinced Darrell Parker is innocent of the slaying of his wife in Lincoln.

Nancy Parker was found slain in her home 5 years ago. The home was located on a city park and Parker was the city forester.

Parker, who was sentenced to life imprisonment, has always denied his guilt.

The investigator, Ralph Peterson, said a suitcase found in Crete several months ago is considered a key to the case. The suitcase was missing from the Parker home after the slaying, Peterson said.

Peterson related that a Crete man now in the State Reformatory had received the suitcase from a former convict who is now in prison in Ohio on a robbery charge.

State Leads In New Oil, Gas Locations

Denver (AP)—Nebraska led high plains-Rocky Mountain states last week in new gas and oil locations, Petroleum Information said.

Thirty new locations were reported in western Nebraska, more than half of them in the Sleepy Hollow and Silver Creek fields of Red Willow County.

Nebraska News

Preliminary hearings on a spacing pattern for these fields brought requests for an 80-acre spacing for all formations from some operators and for an 80-acre pattern for Pennsylvanian only from others.

This Prank Could Harm Pranksters

Cozad (AP) — Cozad police have reported a new and highly dangerous type of juvenile prank — disconnecting electricity from residences.

Some residents have been slightly injured in falls as they attempted to repair the damage, but the greatest danger is to the pranksters, themselves. Tampering with electrical inlets — some of which are 110 volts and some 220 volts—while standing on damp ground could result in tragedy for the pranksters, police said.

Harvesting Moves Into Final Stages

Dry weather has carried Nebraska's corn and milo harvest into its final stages but has led to a sagging in the winter wheat condition, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

"Condition of the winter wheat crop declined last week as a surface soil moisture shortage was developing over a larger area and more fields were off-color due to dry weather and some rust infestation," the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics noted.

Moisture Needed

"Winter grains have made good growth this fall but surface soil moisture is being depleted. These crops need moisture before entering the winter."

By last week about 90% of the state's corn had been picked and more than 94% of the milo had been combined.

Moisture content of corn dropped another point to 17%, with milo moisture steady at 13%.

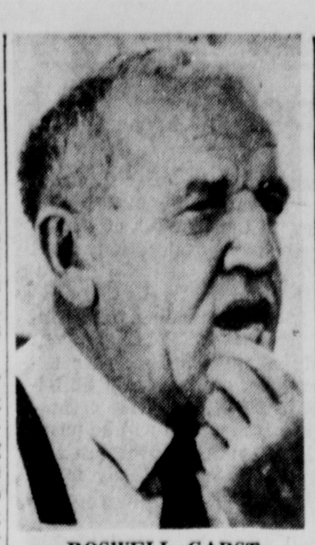

Other observations:

Pastures and ranges have a good supply of cured grass except in areas heavily pastured or hit by dry weather.

Cattle and calves have been moving into harvested corn and milo fields in increasing numbers and feedlots are being filled.

Weather conditions have been ideal for livestock although dust is a problem.

Shipments of cattle and calves into Nebraska during October totaled 173,000 head, or 13% above the same month last year. Inshipments of sheep and lambs totaled 212,000 head, compared with 195,000 a year earlier.

More Misfortunes Cross Judy's Life

Cozad (AP) — Judy Diehl of Cozad, who as a girl of 17 lay trapped in the wreckage of an airplane for 40 hours 3 years ago, after the plane crashed, killing her parents and the pilot, has been hospitalized again as a result of an accident.

Judy's guardian, William Trusdale, Cozad attorney, said the girl was injured in a collision near Leadville, Colo., which killed one of her classmates at Colorado State College, Ft. Collins.

Judy suffered a broken pelvis, broken right arm and cuts and bruises.

Car Hit Ice

Trusdale said Judy and two girl friends and two boys had gone to Burns, Colo., for the weekend to visit parents. On their return trip, their car hit a patch of ice and was in a collision with a car driven by a woman from Grand Junction, Colo., who was seriously injured.

One of Judy's girl friends was killed outright and the other seriously injured. Judy's condition is now very much improved and it may be possible to move her by ambulance to Cozad this weekend, Trusdale said.

Judy spent one semester of her senior year at home recuperating following the plane accident, but was graduated with her class in 1958.

She attended Christian College at Columbia, Mo., for two years and transferred to Colorado State last fall.

Omahan Accused Of Killing Friend

Omaha (AP)—A 24-year-old Omaha woman was ordered Tuesday to stand trial for second degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting of her boyfriend.

She is Mrs. Berniece S. Smothers. She is accused of the fatal shooting of Daniel Brown Jr., 33, Nov. 12. After the shooting Mrs. Smothers turned the .38 caliber revolver on herself. She received a serious chest wound.

Central Criminal Court Judge John Murphy set bond at $10,000.

Both Drastic And Dragging

WILLIAM O. DOBLER

One thing can be said for Lincoln's City Council — it doesn't scare a bit at drastic action. It showed this characteristic when it cut by more than 50 per cent the square foot requirements for lots used for apartment buildings in the downtown area. In an obvious effort to assist one special project, the Council cut the requirement from 500 to 220 square feet of lot area per dwelling unit.

This is just 4 square feet per dwelling unit less than the minimum need for building of the S. O. S. Corporation apartment building at 13th and J. The action was taken against the recommendation of City Planning Engineer Douglas Brogden but in harmony with the unexplainable position of the City-County Planning Commission. The change will have some immediate benefits such as increasing the downtown population and contributing to the ecomomic activity of the community. These things are all needed, too, but there may well be some unfortunate repercussions from the action in the future. While this one apartment building may help downtown business, the overcrowding and congestion that it will set a precedent for could end up the curse of the downtown area.

Over Brogden's View

Those who seek to improve any part of the city should do so with their eyes to the future, not just the present. What might look like a solution for the time being can turn out to be a major problem 20 years from now. Examination will show that practically all the problems faced by the city today are the result of lack of foresight in the past.

The 220 square foot per living unit requirement is an exceptionally low one and will result in the crowding of many people into small areas. It will add to the economic feasibility of maintaining older structures in the city and call for the elimination of less of the undesirable property in the fringe of the downtown area.

But while the council has taken drastic action in one area, it continues to ignore action in other areas. For years, Lincoln has toyed with the idea of urban renewal but has never taken any firm action in this direction. There is no question that urban renewal is highly controversial subject and that its opponents are as vocal a group as has ever been heard on any subject. But there are, also, those who believe that urban renewal has a lot to offer Lincoln. By their lack of action in the matter, the Council is bowing to the dictates of opponents without even any consideration of all the facts.

The National Housing Conference has announced that it is recommending to the incoming administration of President-elect John F. Kennedy a multi-billion-dollar urban renewal program, calling for a $1 billion appropriation in 1961. Officials of major cities throughout the nation will be pushing for such an increase in the program and the Kennedy administration is likely to be sympathetic with the plan.

But Lincoln will never be a part of this increased program until it decides to take some action in the matter. Demands for urban renewal funds are heavy and the federal governnment is not forcing the program on any city. The initiative must come at the local level but there has been none of it in Lincoln.

There are areas in Lincoln which could be substantially improved or completely renewed with urban renewal. It is a concept and a plan which could guarantee Lincoln the absence of slums and blighted areas for generations in the future. And it could all be accomplished at relatively little cost from our point of view.

The federal urban renewal program is one of the most generous in Uncle Sam's repertoire. This may be disgusting to some people and a disgusting way of looking at it but those are the facts of the situation. Nobody is going to save any money by Lincoln's staying out of the program. As we said, the large metropolitan areas of the country are going hungry for these funds and they will gobble up everything the federal government provides if other cities fail to take it upon themselves to get their share. The program should not be adopted merely to get federal funds but the availability of funds and the need for action in Lincoln are commanding incentives when put together.

Sharing Federal Funds

Any such program in Lincoln would require a vote of the people and this means further delay. Extensive planning is also needed and this again means delay. At best. it would be a year or two, perhaps more, before anything could be done in Lincoln and the council's refusal to handle the situation merely adds to that unfortunate state of affairs.

Cabinet Impartiality

Organized labor is making a mistake in urging a place in the cabinet of President-elect John F. Kennedy for a representative from their ranks. It is believed that labor will seek to put their man in as secretary of labor. It is not wrong for labor to expect friendly consideration from Kennedy's administration and this they will get but it is wrong to attempt to make that administration a service to the ends of special interest groups.

If there is one thing the nation is tired of, it is government in Washington dedicated to special interest groups. Many of the federal regulatory agencies have come to be fronts for the industry they represent rather than an impartial group between the industry and the general public. It is not the purpose of the Interstate Commerce Commission, for instance, to carry the ball for the trucking or railroad industry.

In the same manner, it is not the purpose of the Labor Department to carry the ball for the programs and objectives of organized labor. What the department is established to do is to attempt to fit the desires of labor in with the general welfare of the entire country. It also has come to be as concerned with management as it has with labor and the latter would certainly enter a violent protest if the head of the department were the president of some giant corporation.

Part of the job of the department, most certainly, is to see to it that the rights of labor are protetced under the laws of the land that apply to this group. But it is equally the job of the department to see to it that labor is not given preferred treatment at the expense of some other segment of the population. If the theory which would put a labor representative in the cabinet would be applied throughout government, it would be the greatest tragedy we have ever experienced. Labor should be heard and listened to but their treatment should be fair, not something special.

Foreign Ownership

Great Britain became a bit stuffy when the Ford Motor Company asked the British treasury for approval to take over full ownership of its British subsidiary. The British evidently feel that stock control, as Ford has maintained over the years, is enough.

This brings up the question of how far is far enough in this current movement of American industry into foreign fields. In Europe and England, after the war, it was welcomed. It hastened economic recovery, provided employment and cemented the common interests of the western world. Indeed, Europe even offered tax advantages and other incentives. But it hasn't always been a happy situation in the long range. Canada has fretted over the massiveness of U.S. investment and control over Canadian business and industry. Cuba has expropriated American interests. A great deal of past friction in Mexico and present friction in Venezuela and other South American countries stems from such expansion. It isn't so much that American capital is unwanted, but it is true that extensive employment capital has an indirect political effect and tends to restrain government from planning and action which might affect full employment. And when foreign investment wholly controls a domestic enterprise the profits are largely denied to domestic capital. This leads a country to feel that it is being bled.

At a distance one cannot evaluate the merits of the Ford request but it is wholesome that Great Britain has formalized the question. Out of it may come a better formula for encouraging foreign investment without the disagreeable factors which currently so often ensue. It is a question to be treated constructively not prejudicially.

Not Altogether Bad

Subsidized college athletes provide a subject that is fair game for whoever wishes to indulge in criticism. One of the latest is English Professor Kenneth Eble of Utah University who avers that recruiting is at the center of the corruption which marks big time college sports. That is a commonly accepted version.

The charge is true enough in some aspects, but not in all. The great popular demand for college sport and the public pressure it has placed on universities has tended to place college athletics in the field of big business but the corruption of this is more apt to be economic than socially harmful. Big time athletics demand big time gate receipts and fringe universities under pressure to compete with the biggest and best are skating on thin ice.

The charge does not lie so solidly against the athlete himself. He is a poorly paid fellow in terms of his ability, for recruiting seeks not just the good athlete but the best among the best. His great prize is not the modest sum of subsistence funds he receives, but the reality of his educational opportunity, which by and large he makes the most of. An examination of the scholastic achievement and later social effectiveness indicates that the average varsity athlete outshines the campus average. He should. He has superior physical strength, marked courage and an unusual desire to compete and to win. He is experienced both in public adulation and condemnation and can give and take.

America may not relish the idea of subsidized players but it can comfort itself in that business is making education possible for a substantial number of young people, and at the same time it supports one of those rare human activities where barriers on the basis of race, creed or color have been largely put behind. Besides, subsidization seems to be a transitory phenomenon. The trend is for scholarships for an increasing number of young people who have the desire and capacity for higher education because the country hasn't enough of them but must have them if it is to attain the heights needed today for survival. That, in itself, is more apt to relieve the athletic scholarship problem more than resolute efforts for reform.

Rogers Suggests Election Contest

WASHINGTON—When Attorney General Bill Rogers went to see Vice President Nixon in Miami it was for more than Florida sunshine. He gave Nixon a plan to reverse the election of John F. Kennedy and make his close friend president of the United States.

Specifically Rogers asked Nixon whether he should impanel grand juries in the key electoral states of Illinois, Texas, New Jersey and Missouri to investigate alleged vote frauds.

On top of this, Rogers would bring an injunction against members of the electoral college to prevent them from casting their ballots for president until after the grand jury probes were completed. The attorney general thought that he would be able to get a federal court to grant this injunction, but he wanted Nixon's ok before he proceeded.

The vice president replied that the decision was not up to him; he was not attorney general of the United States.

But he cautioned Rogers regarding the effect of American prestige if President-elect Kennedy was barred from office because of election frauds. If the United States reversed its election by an investigation which advertised to the world that our elections were dishonest, Nixon warned, it would really send U.S. prestige to a new low.

In the end, however, the vice president left it up to Attorney General Rogers as to whether he should proceed with the grand jury probes.

Birds have become such a problem around airports that the Federal Aviation Agency has allocated $100,000 to the Interior Department's Fish and Wildlife Service to find ways and means of keeping them away.

This is not a happy job for the Fish and Wildlife Service, because it was established for the specific purpose of protecting and preserving birds. It operates bird refuges all over the United States. However, the death of 62 persons in Boston because starlings got in the intakes of an Electra has forced federal authorities to worry about birds as never before.

The trouble is most of the nation's airports have been located in areas which birds and other wildlife love. Municipal airports usually pick cheap, low swampy lands where take-offs and landings can be over water, thus cutting down the danger to local residences.

Birds love these areas, also the sun-warmed cement runways on chilly autumn days. Seagulls come into airports to escape ocean storms.

Wildlife scientists have already made a number of suggestions. Idlewild airport was told to clean out the wax myrtle shrubs which had been planted between the runways to cut down on wind, but which are the favorite food of the tree swallow.

Civil Rights Now Kennedy's Burden

WASHINGTON — Louisiana very early has shown President-Elect John Kennedy that he can expect recurrent segregation crises for a long time, with only breathing spells between. He gave every indication in his campaign that he realized this might be true and was prepared to meet it.

It is indeed one of the few areas in which his criticism of President Eisenhower was direct and pointed. The President has consistently refused to take a strong position personally on the issues of law and morality involved in the various Southern rebellions against the Supreme Court order to integrate the public schools.

Eisenhower has said he would uphold the law and the courts and he has done so. He has never said he thought they were right. In this vacuum of moral pressure by a resolute president, the struggle has continued and progress toward integration has been notably slow in the 11 states of the Confederacy.

Kennedy repeatedly addressed himself to that vacuum and promised to fill it. It fits his central campaign theme that a strong president is vitally necessary for a strong America.

He is also an eminently realistic politician, and every politician in that category knows that the ultimate cost of segregation is to close the public schools. Sen. Russell Long said as much in a speech to the Lousiana legislature last week. Long tack on the Supreme Court but noted that the courts had not really wavered in the confused march toward integration.

The Justice Department also, under Attorney General William Rogers, has participated actively and consistently in all the legal aspects of the integration struggle. Congress has passed a civil rights bill. Thus the only unrealized federal potential in the situation is the White House leadership Kennedy promised to give.

That it contributed heavily to his re-election, there is little doubt. The Negroes "came home" to the Democratic nominee after a strong drift to the Republicans in two Eisenhower landslides. They showed no animus toward his Texan running mate and possibly some gratitude for the Johnson leadership in securing civil rights legislation.

The ballots are all counted now and suggest that not only did Negroes help the Democratic slate in big northern states but probably in the South. The margin in Texas, for example, was 60,000, and 180,000 Negroes voted, most of them Democratic.

Republican leaders express disappointment over their failure to hold the Negro vote given to Eisenhower. Some believe Vice President Richard Nixon would have done better to let the South fall by the wayside and make a stronger pitch for minorities in all the big states.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

Match-Making By IBM

NEW YORK — The up-and-coming trend in American romance today is marriage by punch-card.

You feed an IBM machine your vital statistics, plus your yearnings, neuroses, politics and prejudices —and it'll give you the name and address of a mate. Supposedly an appropriate one.

This scientific spooning, or courtship by computer, may sound idiotic to people who found their spouses in more typical ways (through blind dates, school picnics, minor auto collisions, and so on), but the experts who run the electronic marriage services insist that the system is highly efficient.

Although the three scientific love centers in the country — there's one also in Canada — still are as new and experimental as puppy love, they claim a number of successful marriages and —so far—no divorces.

In fact Dr. George Crane, who operates the "Scientific Marriage Foundation" in Mellott, Ind., is convinced that if couples are matched scientifically, the national divorce rate could be cut from the current 20 per cent to less than two per cent. Currently, he is matching about 1,500 couples a month.

In New York City, where loneliness is as rampant as ambition, a young lady named Lee Morgan with a master's degree in social research and an electronic computer, operates "Scientific Introduction Service."

In five years of operation, she claims 15 per cent of her scientific introductions have resulted in successful marriages — and the ratio would be much higher except that many people in New York, even when they find the perfect partner, simply do not have the "will to wed."

☆ ☆ ☆

According to the December "Cosmopolitan," which details the work of these mating institutions, there are in the U.S. now 11 million women of marriageable age and eight million men. The reason the computer-connubiality operation is catching on swiftly is that the above-average individual, with a high I.Q. and culture quotient — both male and female — is too busily employed to find a mate to suit his tastes.

It is these above-average folks who have faith in science. Just as this type of individual often is willing to invest in psychoanalysis to discover himself, he is willing to invest in an IBM machine to discover his true love.

Often, of course, these people are as difficult to please by scientific methods as they are by purely social acquaintance.

Dr. Karl Miles Wallace, who runs a service in California, recalls the college professor who demanded the machine find him a girl with all the wonderful qualifications he needed, and she must be a Democrat besides. Or, "if a Republican, then an objective Republican, if there is such a thing."

☆ ☆ ☆

Another expert points out that, however persnickety the client, the machine is the greatest little time-and money-saver an unmarried American could ask for. "If comprehensive files of physical psychological data were collected on all of us, and the time came for John Jones to look for a potential wife, all he would have to do is to throw his name into the central sorting machine. A technician could push a button, and very quickly John would have the names, addresses and phone numbers of girls who might be attractive to him and who also might find him eligible. With a minimum of time, energy and money . . ."

Well, it all seems very reasonable. And maybe that's what love should be. Moonlight just gets you all mixed up.

Only thing is, I wonder if the IBM (for Invoice Before Marriage?) won't be outdated before it really gets going.

Surely they'll invent a pill that will make every man suitably perfect for every woman. Sugar-coated suitability . . . ?

The Tax Base

Lincoln, Neb.

We are hearing a lot these days about improvement of streets, parks, utilities and transportation; about housing and urban renewal. The St. Louis firm of Harland Bartholomew thinks we should undertake a program estimated to cost $44,400,000 for this purpose. The report of the firm adds that the tax base should be broadened, but admits that most of the money will come out of real estate taxes.

The Chicago firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. thinks that taxes on business property should be lowered by 15% and taxes on residence property should be raised by 10% or more. This is just to even the city and county assessment structures. No corresponding benefits to taxpayers are promised or mentioned.

Then, there is agitation in some quarters to discontinue the present tax on intangibles. The result would be a corresponding increase in taxes on tangible property, for the government has to have money to carry on.

The terms "tangible vs. intangible," "percentage vs. mill levy," "actual vs. assessed valuation" are obscure to many of us. One thing is crystal clear: If we let nature take its course without protest, we are going to be paying much higher taxes soon. And a second fact is equally clear: We, the people, don't know what we are going to use for money.

The Planning Commission is holding the first of five hearings Wednesday, Nov. 23, beginning at 2:00 p.m., in the Council chamber at the City Hall. Let's attend and find out what it is all about.

Fluoridation

Lincoln, Neb.

These ideas are quoted from the U.S. Armed Forces Medical Journal.

"The author of this review article points out that fluoridation of community water supplies is the most potent of all measures available for the mass control of the overwhelming public health problem of dental caries (cavities). It consistently reduces . . . cavities by as much as 65%.

"The fluoridation of water has had more scientific testing and evaluation by the public health, dental, medical, and chemical professions than any other health measure, with some studies extending for periods longer than 10 years.

"Approximately one out of every four persons is drinking water containing the ideal fluoride concentration at a per capita cost of nine cents per year.

"The results of all types of studies have demonstrated that fluoridation of drinking water is effective, safe, practical and economical.

"Fluoridation of communal water supplies is fully endorsed by every major professional and scientific health organization in this country. Careful evaluations of each objection forwarded by opponents of fluoridation revealed that sound and acceptable evidence consistently supports fluoridation. It is suggested that whenever local drinking water lacks sufficient fluorides to protect oral health, the health profession should be active in attempting to correct the situation."

Voters' Choice

Lincoln, Neb.

Shame on all the religious groups and others behind the campaign. One heard and read so much against Mr. Kennedy. This will all go down in history as similar to what went on years ago in Europe. Those participating should read their Bibles and the United States Constitution, or else see a doctor, or move out of America.

I wonder if it is the above groups who are messing up the ballots of jealous Republicans. Mr. Kennedy won by voters' choice, and if I were the Democratic party I would investigate the California ballot count. It couldn't possibly be for Nixon.

Tax Relief

Lincoln, Neb.

Any taxpayer in Nebraska who thinks he can get tax relief through the enactment of a sales tax or income tax or both has only developed an illusion.

My many years in the Nebraska Legislature have permitted me to sit in on many sales and income tax hearings as well as many studies and research in my own committees. The results of a sales or income tax are as follows:

(1) No state in the Union has ever solved this tax problem with an added sales or income tax—some 40, in all. They all add up to added taxes.

(2) It is true that any new taxes are added taxes unless the old is eliminated or properly replaced, such as the property tax is now the principal tax in Nebraska.

(3) We find those interested parties supporting a sales or income tax divided into two classes of thinking, namely (a) the spender who wants more tax dollars to spend; and (b) the conservative who is led to believe a sales or income tax will relieve the tax load in general, as well as reducing the property tax.

As one individual taxpayer, my sole possession is property. If I could find where the sales or income tax could save me one dollar in taxes, I could certainly support the so-called "broadened tax program." What little I might save on property would be more than taken away in added sales and income tax. That is already strangling the nation. However, there are two alternatives for the Nebraska taxpayer:

First, if one believes in more tax dollars to spend, he should support the sales tax or income tax or both, and he will surely reach the goal in collecting taxes.

Second, if he believes in tax relief, then he should support the efforts in relieving the Nebraska taxpayer of the many unnecessary luxuries of government. It is the only tax relief that has ever proven effective in any state or community. I am sure it would be effective in Nebraska.

BURNEY: WILL TAXPAYERS STAND HIKE?

How far do we want to expand government services, and how long will the taxpayers stand for the expense?

This question was tossed into Tuesday's budget hearings by Gov. Dwight Burney.

It came during a discussion of the request of the state Soil and Water Conservation committee.

The committee, which has operated under a budget of about $300,000 in general fund money during the present biennium, requested $590,000 for 1961-63.

For Planning

It said the increase is to be used in watershed planning, and for technicians to lay out conservation measures on the local level. It would not involve any increased administrative staff.

The committee, led by Ed Janike of Lincoln, chairman, and Warren D. Fairchild, executive secretary, said the money would permit the increase of coordination of work with other state agencies involved in work on the land, including the Department of Roads and the Board of Educational Lands and Funds.

In some cases, for example, roads are built which alter the picture for conservation practices. With advanced planning, the road and conservation structures could complement each other.

"I wonder," said Gov. Burney, "if the committee has figured out how to get the money to pay for it."

Investment

Members said that conservation is an investment in the future, and they are willing to pay their share.

Gov. Burney said that budget requests of all state agencies are up 26% this year. He cited a request by the state National Guard and Civil Defense agency reviewed earlier, which also included increases.

Presenting the problem as seen from his own standpoint, Gov. Burney said, "Do we dare hold them (the military department) down? They are our protection. Is soil conservation more important than protection, and is protection more important than our schools?"

The Military Department (including Civil Defense) asked for $1,553,999, compared to $1,918,731 for the current biennium.

The State Liquor Control Commission requested $466,282 for 1961-63. Its current budget is $426,390.

Workmen's Compensation Court asked $160,646, nearly the same as the current $153,859 budget.

Wednesday, the State Health Department and the District Court budgets will be presented.

8 Students Hurt In Cuba School Fight

Havana (AP)—Reports from Camaguay said Tuesday 8 students were injured in a fight at a meeting held to support seizure of student associations at Camaguay High School.

About 250 persons, including a few local unionists and uniformed student militia, had gathered for a meeting on the school steps, the reports said. The fighting was between students favoring and opposing intervention.

Attendance at Camaguay schools dropped sharply after a student group called "the revolutionary student front" demanded that all students wear armbands saying "fatherland or death."

Seward Man Charged With Wage Violation

Edwin Schulz, Seward, trucking firm operator, is charged with violation of the federal wage-hour law in a suit on file in federal district court in Lincoln.

The complaint alleged that Schulz failed to pay some of his employes the legal minimum of $1 an hour since Jan. 1, 1959.

The court was asked to enjoin further violation of the statute, and to order Schulz to maintain adequate time and pay records as required under the statute.

14 Hurt In Crash

Buenos Aires (UPI)—Fourteen persons were injured when an electric train collided with a bus at a crossing and dragged the vehicle 100 feet. Police said the crossing barrier failed because of a short-circuit in the mechanism which raises it automatically.

Ohioan Is Chosen New EUB Bishop

Dr. Paul W. Milhouse of Dayton, O., has been elected bishop of the southwestern area of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, succeeding the late Bishop L. L. Baughman.

Milhouse

According to District Superintendent William P. Watkins of Lincoln, the new bishop will be headquartered in Kansas City to serve EUB churches in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma.

Bishop Milhouse has been associate editor of The Telescope-Messenger, denominational publication, and executive secretary of the EUB General Council of Administration.

He was graduated magna cum laude in 1932 from Indiana Central College at Indianapolis, which awarded him an honorary Doctor of Divintiy degree in 1950.

He served as pastor in the Illinois Conference for 20 years, and 10 years at First EUB Church in Decatur. He has written several books and articles.

In Decatur he organized a church committee in the Chamber of Commerce which enlisted cooperation of Jews, Catholics and Protestants in civic matters, especially juvenile delinquency. The city police department credited this committee for the city's sharp decline in juvenile crimes.

He served as president of the Decatur Council of Churches, established a hospital chaplaincy system and was a member of a labor arbitration board.

Mrs. Gablehouse Heads American Forward Unit

Mrs. Irene Gablehouse was elected president of the American Forward Auxiliary. Other officers who will serve during 1961 are: Mrs. Leah Rebensdorf, vice president; Mrs. Jean Stephens, secretary; Mrs. Esther Fagler, assistant secretary; Mrs. Mollie Spealman, treasurer; and Mrs. Mary Rohn, assistant treasurer.

Auxiliary trustees are Mrs. Matilda Kehm, Mrs. Mary Schwabauer, Mrs. Clara Knopp, Mrs. Fredia Brinkman and Mrs. Anna Strashiem.

Eichmann Was 'Under Orders'

New York (AP) — "I carried out my orders," says Adolf Otto Eichmann, the former SS officer who herded millions of Jews to their death in wartime Nazi Germany.

He says in his personal memoirs that he was "merely a little cog in the machinery" that handled the mass executions.

"With us an order was an order," he said. "If I had sabotaged the order of the one-time Fuhrer of the German Reich, Adolf Hitler, I would have been not only a scoundrel but a despicable pig . . ."

The first installment of Eichmann's memoirs is published in the current issue of Life magazine.

The memoirs were obtained from a German journalist, Wilhelm Sassen, who had assembled more than 900 pages of handwritten notes and transcriptions of tape-recorded interviews with Eichmann in Buenos Aires starting in 1955.

Life says it spent 6 months in editing and translating the material and in research confirming its "absolute authenticity."

Eichmann, abducted from Argentina last spring by secret agents, is now awaiting trial in an Israeli prison.

"Where I was implicated in the physical annihilation of Jews," he says, "I admit my participation freely and without pressure.

"After all I was the one who transported the Jews to the camps. If I had not transported them, they would not have been delivered to the butcher."

As head of the Gestapo's Department of Jewish Affairs, he says his job was rounding up Jews in Germany and conquered European countries and shipping them by train to their final destination.

"It would be as pointless to blame me for the whole final solution of the Jewish problem as to blame the official in charge of the railroads . . ." he says.

"At heart I am a very sensitive man."

His department's activity originally was limited to tracing Jewish ancestries, deporting Jews, confining them to ghettos and forcing them to wear yellow stars, he says, but Hitler in 1941 ordered their physical annihilation.

Eichmann says he isn't sure why the Fuhrer took this "extreme measure," but that it may have been because the planned Blitz in Russia wasn't going well. In any event, the new order for Jews was: "liquidation."

Eichmann tells of witnessing his first mass execution of Jews at Minsk, where 5,000 men, women and children were slain. He says they walked in groups to a pit—"they were not driven" — and jumped in.

They then were riddled with rifle and machinegun fire.

The system of mass gas-chamber executions was developed soon afterward.

He says his transport trains brought in as many as 10,000 units a day for execution at the Auschwitz camp. He describes his first tour of the camp with its commander, Rudolf Hoess, saying:

"At the end he took me to a grave where the gassed Jews lay piled on a strong iron grill. Hoess's men poured some inflammable liquid over them and set them on fire . . . I can still see that mountain of corpses in front of me."

Eichmann insists he is not anti-semitic, and had no wish to harm the individual Jew personally, but was "just politically opposed to Jews because they were stealing the breath of life from us."

Worried Workers Get Their Pay

Checks Avert Walkout At Atlas Missile Sites

By Nancy Ray

Swift action by Western Contracting Corp. Tuesday averted a threatened walkout of employes at the 12 Atlas missile sites ringing the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Paychecks of the defaulted subcontracting firm which had "bounced" at local banks as early as last Friday were again being honored, and workers were paid off Tuesday for last week's work.

Some grumbling continued from former employes of the defaulted Hansen-Kashner firm who claimed that more than one week of back pay was due them but union officials said the grievances were being handled individually.

Workers showed up Tuesday at the Western offices with signs reading "No Checks, No Thanksgiving" but soon quit the demonstration in order to line up for paychecks.

The threat of a walkout arose Monday before announcement by Western Contracting, the general contractor for the sites, that the defaulted firm's payroll had been taken over and money deposited to meet the payroll.

Hansen-Kashner employed about 190 men on slip-form cement operations at the 12 sites. Many of the firms employes have ben transferred to the Western payroll and will complete the work on the underground silos under Western direction.

Arthur O'Neill: New Jersey Has Money For You

The attorney general's office has been informed that the state of New Jersey is holding $63 for Arthur J. O'Neill whose last known address was box 166 in Omaha.

O'Neill is believed to have been an employe of the Cuban-American Sugar Co. which incorporated in New Jersey.

New Jersey statutes state that if a corporation is unable to find an employe who is owed money, that money goes to the state if the person does not claim the money, in writing, within two years of the notification.

A similar law for Nebraska was defeated in the last session of the legislature.

The notice to the Nebraska attorney general's office was sent by New Jersey State Treasurer John A. Kervick.

'I Have 100 Cruzeiros, I Give You Half, That's Communism'

By Edward T. Butler

Rio De Janeiro, Brazil (AP) — Barefoot peasants in battered, faded shirts squeezed in close to the man as his words streamed out at them on the Tupaninga village square in Brazil's backward northeast.

Dressed only a little better than they and speaking their native northeast language of Brazil, he picked out one of them in the crowd.

"Do YOU know what Communism is?" he blared at the brown little man. Before the peasant could answer, the man replied:

Destitute

"Communism is for you who are destitute. I will tell you more about what Communism means to you: If you have nothing and I have 100 cruzeiros, I give you 50 cruzeiros. That is what Communism is."

For about 22 million people of the Brazilian northeast, many living on $100 a year in huts of branches, leaves and mud, a message like that of the Brazilian Communist worker in Tupaninga is clear, simple and direct.

Approximately 33,000 Communists are working all over Brazil — from the steamy banks of the Amazon to the cattle lands of the South; from the waterfront at Rio De Janeiro to the concrete miracle of Brasilia and on to the wilds of the West. Communists are outlawed here, but they are permitted to operate actively and openly by a patient and relaxed government. Communist power in Brazil seems to be growing.

Succeeded

With a strike on Nov. 8, Communist agents succeeded in stopping all government-run railroads, shipping lines and docking operations. A prolonged strike could bring Brazil's inflation-troubled economy to a crashing halt.

Since the Oct. 3 election of Janio Quadros as president — strongly opposed by Leftists, Nationalists and the Reds — Communism has been on the move here.

In the newly formed "Brazilian Nationalist Movement" and in students' organizations, Communists hammer home their message: that North Americans brought poverty and hardship to Brazil; that North American companies operating here keep prices high to send stock holder profits home; that Yankee tycoons aim to get Brazil's oil, uranium, iron ore and manganese to stuff the wallets of Wall Street.

Message

This is the message behind the strikes — which the Brazilian worker honestly believes are called to give him a better living.

This, too, is the message behind the northeast "peasant leagues," which advocate seizure of large land estates as Fidel Castro has done in Cuba — and the peasant is told this will bring him food, clothing and comfort.

This is the message falling on the ears of 70 million Brazilians — more than half of them illiterate.

Potential

What is the Communist aim in potentially powerful Brazil? What is their tactic in the cold war against the United States?

The aim, say the National Security Council, political and social police and government officials, is to seize the potential riches of Latin America to the detriment of the United States. A recent report that leaked out here said the Communist aim is to get South America by taking Brazil and Argentina. The Communist motto, the report said, is this:

"Defeat Brazil and Argentina and their neighbors will fall like cards."

FDA Bans Coloring In Cherries, Hotdogs

Washington (AP)— The government Tuesday night banned the use of a coal tar color used in Maraschino cherries and to color the casings of frankfurters.

Announcing the action, the Food and Drug Administration said preliminary experiments have shown the color "produces liver damage in test animals and no safe use level has been established."

The color is known as FDC (Food - Drug - Cosmetic) Red No. 1.

John L. Harvey, FDA deputy commissioner, ordered that further use of the color be eliminated immediately.

No Action

He added, however, "that no action needs to be taken to remove foods, drugs and cosmetics containing this color additive from the market on the basis of the scientific avidence." Harvey said this is because "the additive is not an acute toxic substance and that it is only used in small amounts in foods, drugs and cosmetics."

Commenting on tests of the color, Harvey said "results did not provide a basis for concluding that the color could cause cancer." However, he added, that the tests will be continued.

The FDA acted under the new color additive law enacted this year by Congress which places on manufacturers the burden of proving that colors are safe before they can be used in foods, drugs and cosmetics.

No Limits

Heretofore, Harvey said, there have been no limits on the amount of Red No. 1 that could be used in foods, "although in practice the actual amounts have been small, even where Red No. 1 was the sole coloring agent used."

The FDA said the color is not used in lipsticks.

It was obvious from the wording of the FDA order that the agency hoped to avoid the big scare that resulted about this time last year when it banned many shipments of cranberries shortly before the Thanksgiving season.

In the controversial cranberry case, the FDA acted on grounds that the berries had been treated with a weed killer which it said had induced cancer in test animals.

There have been no bans on cranberries this year, however.

Popular

Tuesday night's action by the FDA hit what is regarded as one of the food industry's most popular color additives.

Red No. 1 was described as a widely used color, chiefly for maraschino cherries, but also to color casings of frankfurters, in drugs and cosmetics, and in combination with other colors to produce various shades.

Dr. Arnold J. Lehman, head of the FDA's pharmacology division, said experiments with rats, dogs and mice that were fed diets containing FDC Red No. 1 resulted in liver damage in some animals and malignant tumors in a few others. He stressed, however, that the tests were not complete and that scientists could not say definitely that the color is a cancer-inducing agent.

The FDA also said "that the lowest amounts of the color which have been shown to produce liver damage in the test animals were many times greater than the amounts of this color that would be consumed in the human diet."

Macmillan Tells Italians He Believes West 'Could Meet'

Rome (AP) — British Prime Minister Macmillan told the Italian people he believes the West is ready to meet with Soviet Premier Khrushchev "if there is a chance of reaching reasonably negotiated settlements."

Macmillan, who has been holding talks with Italian officials, said in a filmed interview on Italian television:

"Of course, I think the position of the West is quite clear. We have to maintain out unity, but at the same time we should always be ready to negotiate, to discuss, and to seek—if we can—solutions for the most pressing problems."

Macmillan said that "we must not forget, if I understand Mr. Khrushchev's thesis aright, and it is not quite an orthodox Marxist thesis, that there is no necessity for war."

"He thinks Communism can triumph because of its own strength," he added. "If we believe in our faith, we must believe that given peace, our way of life, the free way of life, the traditional, the Christian way of life must triumph."

A joint British-Italian communique, released Tuesday night said Italy agreed on the need for a summit meeting.

"Special attention was paid to the present state of East-West relations and to the hopes for a resumption of negotiations to achieve effective relaxation of international tension and progressive measures of controlled disarmament," the communique said. "The ministers agreed that these were the essentials for the consolidation of peace and security."

A British spokesman said the paragraph represented the hope of both countries that summit meetings would be resumed and a belief they would be worthwhile.

He said the British had brought the Italian leaders around to this view.

Kennedy Sets Back Confab With Labor

Palm Beach, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy relaxed Tuesday after putting off a Thanksgiving eve labor meeting and taking a look into the Democratic party's depleted coffers.

But bearing down on the Massachusetts Senator is the necessity of picking promptly the men who will serve under him in the highest posts in the White House and government departments. Eighty of these positions must be filled on a top priority basis.

One of the key spots to be filled, under whatever title it may turn up with, is that of an official who serves as the transmission belt for getting security information to the president.

Kennedy is certain to have someone charged with this responsibility.

Under the Eisenhower administration, this has been the function of Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster, who has the title of White House Staff Secretary. His assistant has been President Eisenhower's son, Maj. John Eisenhower.

Kennedy's acting press secretary, Donald M. Wilson, said, though, that he doesn't know whether there will be a stream of announcements of appointments immediately after Thanksgiving. Kennedy has said there possibly would be none until early December.

The president-elect flies to Washington Wednesday afternoon and back here Thursday night, after spending Thanksgiving Day with his wife and daughter Caroline. Caroline will be 3 Sunday and the celebration of her birthday is being moved up to Thursday so her daddy can take part.

Originally Kennedy had planned to meet with President George Meany and other AFL-CIO leaders after his return to Washington Wednesday. The announced subject of discussion — unemployment.

But Wilson said a Thanksgiving eve session was proving to be awkward because it involved bringing in 8 or 10 leaders, some from outlying parts of the country, who would have to miss the holiday with their families.

So by mutual agreement, Wilson said, the meeting was postponed until sometime after Meany returns from a trip to Europe on which he sets out Saturday.

Meany is due to leave New York then by plane for Brussels, Belgium, to attend a meeting of the Executive Board of the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions. He is due to return to this country about Dec. 10-11.

Kennedy met Tuesday with Matthew McCloskey of Philadelphia, the finance director of the Democratic National Committee. Wilson said they discussed the state of party finances, which are none too good after a costly campaign.

Tavern Break-In Nets Jail Terms For 3 Lincolnites

Three men involved in the Oct. 24 burglary of a local tavern were sentenced to county jail terms Tuesday by Lancaster District Judge John Polk.

Lyle Thayer was sentenced to a 4-month term and Herbert M. Rivenberg was sentenced to a 3-month term. Thayer, 22, and Rivenberg, 37, both live at 336 No. 17th and both had pleaded guilty to burglary charges.

Lemons English Jr., 22, of the same address, was sentenced to two months in the county jail and fined $10 on a charge of being an accessory after the fact.

Thayer and Rivenberg admitted breaking into Jo Jo's Tavern at 634 Oak and English admitted concealing knowledge of the crime from authorities.

Masses are scheduled in all Catholic parishes. Contributions are being made to the Bishop's Clothing Appeal.

20 Overflow Guests Sent To Dodge Jail

Omaha (AP)—The Douglas County jail overflowed again Tuesday and 20 prisoners were shipped to the Dodge County jail at Fremont to complete their sentences.

Jail Capt. Art Gall said they will be brought back Dec. 8 when their sentence run out. Before the transfer the jail population was 340.

Apartment House Condemnation Is Sought By State

An order from the State Fire Marshal's office condemning as a fire hazard an apartment house at 842 West Q was filed Tuesday in Lancaster District Court.

The order, signed by Dep. Fire Marshal G. E. Ekstrand and County Atty. Elmer Scheele, gives the owner of the building, Dr. H. H. Johnson, 20 days to reply or the building will be demolished at Johnson's expense.

The order gives Johnson a choice of either making major repairs on the building or demolishing it.

301 Committee Lists Expenses Of $2,150

Reports filed with the secretary of State's office Tuesday listed $2,150 received and spent for campaign purposes by the 301 Committee. The Committee was formed to oppose the unsuccessful amendment proposal to replace the state Board of Education with an elective official.

Other reports:

Fred Sorensen of Omaha, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for railway commission, spent $357.

Robert B. Kramer of Scottsbluff, who lost his bid for the state Legislature from the 42nd District, reported that $1,095 was spent on his campaign. The treasurer of his political committee, Calvin E. Lenhart, reported collecting $1,091 in contributions, including $330 from Kramer himself.

STAPLEHURST GIRLS SAY 'NO RUSH FOR US'

By Gene Budig

Staplehurst — Members of the Staplehurst Women's Club are beating the Christmas rush.

With store windows just starting to sparkle, boosters have already laid away their gift for the community.

In fact, their weighty package will be stripped of its paper and ribbon later this month.

The package, Mrs. Victor Roebke tipped, will include a homemade Nativity scene complete with life-size figures.

"The figures and background will be ready to be set up by the first of December," the spokesman related with 'I-can't-wait' enthusiasm.

Doing all the nail pounding and paint splashing are club members and volunteers from the Busy Beavers 4-H Club of Staplehurst.

Mrs. Roebke termed cooperation "excellent."

"Whenever a work session is called," she said, "attendance is almost perfect."

The scene includes 17 figures.

Headquarters are located in the garage of Hugo Luebbe, who serves as advisor.

This is the first time that such a Christmas project has been undertaken here.

Mrs. Roebke added that a string of 100 colored lights will be hung near the manger for added nighttime luster.

Government Won't Interfere With Spending Of Travelers

Washington (UPI) — The government has decided not to interfere with the overseas spending of American travelers, even though this would help substantially in its effort to stem the unbalanced flow of dollars into foreign hands.

The Eisenhower administration considered such a move, but rejected it as being contradictory to U.S. free trade policies. The incoming Kennedy administration is expected to follow the same line, at least for its first year.

Tours and business trips by Americans provide a rich dollar lode for other countries. Last year it was tapped to the record tune of $1.6 billion — tourists alone accounting for $1.4 billion. This did not count the $382 million Americans paid in travel costs to overseas airlines and shipping firms.

The government could reduce overseas spending substantially by cutting into these fat sums. But the administration has decided neither to impose nor advise any limit.

The administration could insist, for example, that no tourist spend more than $500 abroad — more or less the amount laid out by students there on shoestring-budget vacations. It also could reduce the amount of foreign goods American travelers could bring home duty-free, which would discourage spending.

But this would put the administration in the position of doing precisely what it has asked other governments not to do.

The administration fears that if it imposed such limits, other governments might retaliate in kind and unbalance the outflow of American currency even further.

To avoid jeopardizing its free trade philosophy, the U.S. government has concentrated on reducing foreign outlays of its own money—cutting back the number of servicemen's dependents abroad, and requiring that foreign aid funds be spent primarily in this country.

Limitation on private outlays is out, however.

The administration of president-elect John F. Kennedy is expected to be equally devoted to free trade—possibly even more so. It probably will agree that private outlays should not be tampered with.

This is the theory under which the Eisenhower administration has decided not to urge military dependents to "buy American" in foreign lands. Military post exchanges no longer carry foreign-made goods, but servicemen and their wives still are free to exchange their dollars for local currency and buy from local merchants.

HERMAN 'THE CAT,' SET UPON

Alameda, Calif. (UPI)—The owners of Herman the amorous Tomcat told police Tuesday he had been kidnaped and beaten on the eve of another court appearance.

Mrs. Russell H. Bowler said she found Herman bruised and bleeding in a neighbor's garage after he had been securely locked up in the Bowler basement.

"My husband took one look at him and said, 'this is war!' " Mrs. Bowler said.

The Bowlers are being sued for $3,500 by neighbors Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Cook. They say Herman has mauled several of their 12 Siamese and even attacked Mrs. Cook.

The Cooks also seek to have Herman calmed by surgery.

The Bowlers have countersued for $1,500, charging that Herman is only a "red-blooded American tomcat . . . led astray by the plaintiffs females, being the more deadly of the species . . ."

The smallest U.S. national park is Platt in southern Oklahoma. It features cold mineral springs and is 912 acres in area.

Action Taken To Assure Planning Aid For 3 State Watershed Jobs

The Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Committee Tuesday took action to assure federal and state planning assistance for 3 proposed watershed projects.

Warren D. Fairchild, executive secretary of the committee, said once the watershed work plans have been accepted by local persons involved, the projects will be eligible for federal construction funds under Public Law 566, the watershed protection and flood prevention act, which pay up to 100% of the costs.

The top priority was recommended for a 119,000-acre project sponsored by the upper Big Nemaha Watershed Conservancy District and the watershed districts of Otoe, Johnson, Lancaster and Gage counties.

Second and 3rd priorities were recommended for the 4,939-acre Pilger watershed located in Stanton County, and the 25,000-acre Rock Creek watershed in Stanton and Cuming counties.

The last two priorities are subject to the sponsorship of the projects by suitable organizations with adequate authority under Nebraska statutes, Fairchild said.

Vacation

Haersingborg, Sweden (UPI) — Local tax collector Sten Sjoeholm reported that he will follow his usual yuletide custom of not collecting any taxes during the Christmas season despite the heavy criticism of government officials.

PET SHETLAND CAN REMAIN IN 'FANCY' HOUSE

Clearwater, Fla. (AP) — A circuit judge Tuesday refused to order the eviction of a Shetland pony that has the run of the fashionable 5-bedroom home of the Robert S. Darrow family.

Neighbors of the Darrows object to the pony's presence in an upper-class subdivision just south of Clearwater.

They went to court Tuesday to seek a temporary injunction banning the pony, "Copper Masterpiece," from the area until their main suit, charging violation of deed restrictions, comes to trial. Judge Jack F. White turned them down.

He said he could see no irreparable damage to anyone by allowing the pony to continue to romp with the 4 Darrow children and 4 dogs until the case comes to trial.

He said the pony sleeps in the house and sometimes eats at the table with the children, who range in age from 11 years to 22 months.

The deed restrictions provide that "no pigs, cattle, poultry or other livestock may be kept or harbored upon the premises without the consent of the association."

Darrow said his defense plea that Copper Masterpiece is a household pet apparently saved the pony from eviction.

After 30 Years Man, Ship To Split

New York (AP) — Grimy work clothes and with traces of grease on his wizened face and hands, 69-year-old John Dacey stood in the stately splendor of the liner Britannic's Tudor Lounge Tuesday and all but wept.

Dacey lifted a glass of ginger ale and toasted the elegant passenger vessel, a queen of the seas—but much more than a queen to him. She has been the only home he has known for 3 decades.

"I can't tell you how sorry I am she has to go. She's the greatest ship in the world," murmured Dacey in British accents so thick at times it was all but impossible to understand him.

Get Weary

But queens of the seas, like queens of kingdoms, get old and weary and worn out. And now it is the end of the reign for the beautiful Britannic. When she sails Friday, her last port of call will be Liverpool—and the wrecker's torch.

John Dacey has been with the Britannic ever since her maiden voyage—to New York in 1930. She's the last of the old British White Star liners, all of which eventually were taken over by the Cunard Line.

"The Britannic is the finest ship in the world," Dacey said over and over. "She's always been on time. There's never been another ship like her . . . in storms she's a good ship. Rides perfectly. That's why everybody tries to get on her."

For Dacey, who has been at sea almost a half century, Tuesday brought an unexpected taste of glory for him, too. A reporter, attending a farewell luncheon for the press aboard the Britannic inquired if any of the crew had been aboard all through the queen's career.

One man, was the answer. John Dacey, a "refrigerator oiler"—A man who keeps the refrigerator mechanisms oiled.

Before Dacey could get any notion of what was happening to him, he was being given a royal escort from far down in the bowels of the ship to the lofty, magnificent reaches of the first class passenger deck. There, under inquiries of newsmen, he told his life's story.

Every Liner

"I've served on every White Star liner there ever was, and a lot of other ships, too. For nearly 50 years I've lived mostly at sea—3 weeks aboard ship and one at home in Liverpool.

"My wife is dead now. I have 3 sons and two daughters, and 6 grandchildren. They all live in England and have homes of their own . . . I've never taken a drink in my life . . . the Britannica is the best of all ships . . . I have dozens of relatives in the United States . . . the company has promised me another ship after this one.

"I ran away to the sea when I was 20 years old. That was because my parents, and they were the best parents in the world, were too religious for me. Also, there were 9 girls in the family ahead of me . . . too many sisters. They absolutely ruined the atmosphere at home. I didn't want them to make a sissy out of me."

Not Again

If you had your life to live over again, John, he was asked, would you do the same again?

"No," he replied. "I'd stay on the shore and live there. I could have a home, and go out with my wife and children. That way is best."

Dacey thought a moment and added: "But the Britannic is the greatest ship of them all."

ICA Chief Will Speak At NU

James. W. Riddleberger, director of International Cooperation Administration and one of a few U.S. diplomats who can claim that he bested Nikita S. Khrushchev in a verbal duel, will speak at the University of Nebraska Monday.

Riddleberger

He will speak at 11 a.m. in the Nebraska Union ballroom, under the sponsorship of Sigma Tau and the College of Engineering and Architecture. The public is invited to attend.

While Riddleberger served as ambassador to Yugoslavia from 1953-58, Khrushchev in U.S.-baiting comments at a Belgrade party said that American diplomats knew nothing about the U.S. working class.

Riddleberger answered: "I have a farm hand, bricklayer, and house painter. I think I had just about as much connection with the working class as you have had."

At another point in the conversation, Khrushchev criticized U.S. foreign policy for "seeking to bargain from a position of strength." Riddleberger retorted: "I served in Berlin during the blockade when the Soviet government attempted bargaining from a position of strength."

Riddleberger was appointed in May, 1959, as director of the ICA, the agency that administers U.S. foreign aid In 1958-59, he served as ambassador to Greece.

Switzerland First

He entered the foreign service in 1929, with his first assignment being vice consul at Geneva, Switzerland. He was later appointed consul and remained in Geneva until 1935, when he was sent to Germany.

In Germany, he served as third and second secretary at the American Embassy in Berlin from 1936-41. Shortly after the U.S. entered World War II, he returned to Washington and was assigned to the Board of Economic Warfare.

He later served as second secretary and consul and then first secretary and consul at the U.S. Embassy in London. In 1944, he became chief of the division of Central European Affairs of the Department of State.

From 1947 to 1950, he served in Germany, first as chief of the political section of the American Military Government, then political adviser to the commander-in-chief of the U.S. forces in Germany and later as director of the Office of Political Affairs under John J. McCloy, U.S. high commissioner in Germany.

Headed Department

In 1952-53, he was director of the Department of State's Bureau of German affairs, then equivalent to assistant secretary of state

One of his first tasks as ambassador to Yugoslavia in 1953 was to seek a solution to the dispute between Italy and Yugoslavia over Trieste. He was one of the Western diplomats who urged the bilateral negotiations between the two countries which led to the signing of a compromise agreement in October, 1954.

In 1955, he recommended to the U.S. House of Representatives Foreign Affairs Committee unqualified economic and military assistance to Tito.

Riddleberger has 3 children, Christopher, Antonia and Peter, the latter a senior at the University of Nebraska. Peter enrolled in the University after taking his senior year of high school work by correspondence from the University Extension Division. Peter was then living in Greece with his father.

ASK—
Dorothy Draper

Remember the familiar slogan the florists devised many years ago to lure people into sending flowers by wire, "Say it with flowers?" Well, one of the stores in New York has said it with flowers on, of all things, door mats!

They have taken real looking weatherproof plastic flowers with their appropriate leaves and "planted" them on either side of sturdy sisal mats. The effect has a charming surprise element and should make a "welcome" addition to any doorway.

Giant white daisies, russet and yellow marigolds, or yellow chrysanthemums can now bloom by your door all year long. It would make a gay present ($10) for the new bride, and any old bride who lives in an apartment or house would love one I'm sure.

Whoever thought up the idea must have stood in one of the many dark and somber hallways I have seen and thought, "Ah, here's something that won't need any care and will brighten this corner."

It doesn't take much, just some little touch to change the mood of a place. How does your doorway rate?

Mrs. R. J. P. asks:

"The following is not only my problem, but the problem of approximately 60 families in our new-home area. Our small bathroom has the tub against the outside wall, with a 2½ by 3½ foot window above it.

The tub is combined with a shower and the shower rod extends the length of the tub, which is the width of the bathroom. At present we have a plastic shower and window curtain. It is a problem to keep the window curtain from becoming water marked and ripply. Is there any practical solution?"

Dear Mrs. R. J. P.:

What a ridiculous spot for a window in the first place! If you need privacy there, the only thing to do is to have a glass brick or some kind of a no-see-through window to replace the present one. Or, if privacy is not important, just put up a plastic ruffle or a scalloped oilcoth valance.

Mrs. C. C. asks:

"Would you please advise us as to how we should refinish a small studio piano with a worn and scratched finish? Should it be painted, stained, lacquered or varnished and whether it should have a dull, semi-gloss or gloss finish?"

Dear Mrs. C. C.:

A black lacquer finish would look well with the rest of your room. Those kits that remove old finishes and provide a walnut stain sound practical but you'd better be a real "Handy Andy" before you attempt it.

Dear Abby—
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I drive a trailer truck for long-distance hauling. I came in off the road after a 2200-mile trip and the first thing my wife said was, "Let's go for a ride."

I tried to explain that I wasn't in the mood but she said she didn't care, that she and the kids hadn't been out of the house for nine days and she wanted to get out a little. Do you think I should have taken her for a ride?

TEED OFF

DEAR TEED: You should have. But not then.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you with the desperate hope that you can help us with our daughter, who is eleven. She is a petit mal epileptic and fairly well controlled by medicine. She is mentally and physically mature beyond her years and is exceptionally talented musically. But she is on the verge of being expelled from public school because she is absent almost every other day. She fakes illness and comes home constantly. We know she does this because she fears the humiliation of having an epileptic seizure before her classmates, although this has never happened. We can't help her at home, Abby. Is there a place we can send her for treatment, education and rehabilitation with experts in this field? We aren't rich but we would mortgage everything we own to help her.

DESPERATE MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Write to the Federal Association for Epilepsy, 1729 F Street N. W., Washington, D.C. The Association sponsors the National Children's Rehabilitation Center for epileptics who, for one reason or another, cannot be educated in public schools. The Center admits children from 7 to 16 years of age. The fee for your child will be based on your husband's income and family obligations.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: In regard to the 14-year-old "Cinderella" who complained about having to be in by midnight: We are a group of GI's between the ages of 18 and 55, and we are required to be in bed for bed check by 12:15 p.m. If we are not there, we are subject to court martial. So tell Cinderella to put that in her glass slipper and dance on it.

Wedding On Tuesday

MRS. BRUCE EDWARD WENDORFF

A fan-shaped arrangement of pale pink chrysanthemums, and lighted candles in pedestal holders, formed the background in the First Christian Church Tuesday evening, Nov. 22, for the marriage of Miss Judy Sue Hanneman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Hanneman, to Bruce Edward Wendorff, son of Mr. and Mrs. U. E. Wendorff. The Rev. Charles L. Wilson read the lines of the 8 o'clock service.

Wearing sheaths of pastel pink peau de soie accented by flaring tunic overskirts were Miss Joann Wendorff, sister of the bridegroom, as the maid of honor; the bridesmaid, Miss Betty Blore; and the bridesmatrons, Mrs. Roger Schindler and Mrs. Robert Battey. They wore tiny veiled hats and carried nosegays of pink carnations and red roses. Miss Susie Reitz of North Platte was the flower girl.

Bruce Newell of Boston served Mr. Wendorff as best man, and seating the guests were Marshall Bruce, Bob Battey and Roger Schindler.

White imported lace over silk fashioned the bride's princess gown. Natural scallops of the lace edged the shoulder-wide decolletage and the brief, shirred sleeves of the sculptured basque, and the domed skirt was trimmed with narrow velvet ribbon and ended in a brush train. A pearl crown held her veil of illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white sweetheart roses and ivy.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Denver, Mr. and Mrs. Wendorff will live in Lincoln where both are seniors at the University of Nebraska. The bride is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, and Mr. Wendorff is a member of Theta Xi.

Tour of the Town

—Thumbing through bits of this and that on our news spindle this morning we found that the Junior League provisionals were not at home on Tuesday morning. They all were at the home of Mrs. James Weesner where the group had a surprise party for the Provisional director, Mrs. Thomas C. Woods, Jr. Mrs. Woods was presented with a gift from the Junior League freshmen.

* * *

—Then we found a notation concerning Friday evening—and the dessert supper for which Mrs. Morton Robinson will be hostess. Miss Angie Holbert, whose marriage to Harold Johnson will take place on Dec. 17, will be the honoree, and will be presented with a one-gift shower.

* * *

—And the following Tuesday evening Miss Marnie Gardner will be complimented when Mrs. Virgil Mohr and Mrs. Merle Multer are hostesses at a dessert supper and pantry shower.

Miss Gardner will become the bride of Jeffre Cheuvront on Dec. 22.

* * *

—Very clever people, the members of the Mr. and Mrs. Club—They are having a dinner dance in the Terrace Room at Hotel Lincoln on Dec. 2—and the theme is "Mr. and Mrs. Santa's New Year's Party"—just a matter of killing two birds with one stone.

* * *

—This morning we must add more names to the Thanksgiving guest list—We hear that Miss Chloe Baldridge is to have as her guests on Thanksgiving day Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Baldridge and Mr. and Mrs. W. Travers, all of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Baldridge, their daughter, Rae Ann, and Mrs. Earl Ray, all of Norfolk, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul McClure and family of Omaha. Joining the group for Thanksgiving dinner will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Law, their daughter, Sandra, and Mrs. C. Louise Law.

* * *

—And included in the guest list when Mr. and Mrs. Glen Baldwin preside at dinner on Thanksgiving day at the University Club will be Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin's sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lawrie and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Beach. We understand that none of the Lawrie or the Beach small fry will be included in the dinner group.

Opening lead—queen of hearts.

From a duplicate tournament played at the Scarsdale (N.Y.) High School comes this hand submitted by Ronald Fischer.

It is a remarkable deal in many ways. The bidding, of course, varied at the different tables, and with each player being void of at least one suit, the results naturally ally were swingy.

West can make six hearts and North seven clubs against any defense. South must go down one at seven diamonds because there is no way for him to avoid a spade loser. South can make seven spades, however, except against a diamond lead.

At one table, the bidding went as shown. South made a forcing pass of seven hearts, inviting North to bid seven spades, if he possibly could, or else double. North decided to gamble out seven spades, since he felt his side would not get rich against a seven heart contract.

West led a heart. South had to ruff in dummy in order to take the necessary spade finesse, but he had to do more than just that to make the contract.

He trumped in dummy with the nine, but he was also careful to undertrump with the six from his own hand!

This unusual play gave him the contract. After finessing the jack and ten of spades, East ducking each time, South ran eight club tricks. East could not afford to trump at any point because South would overruff, draw East's last trump, and cash his remaining diamonds.

On the eight clubs declarer discarded all his diamonds. When the procession of clubs was over, dummy remained with the 8-2 of diamonds. East, by now, had the K-5 of spades and South the A-Q. The diamond lead from dummy put East out of commission and gave South thirteen tricks.

If declarer had failed to underruff on the opening lead, he would have been defeated. His last three cards would have been the A-Q-8 of spades, and he would have been forced to trump the eighth club lead and concede a spade to the king.

New Board Members Elected

New members of the board of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, elected by ballot in October, were introduced to the organization Tuesday evening at a dinner-meeting held at the Chamber.

The new board members, who will take office in January (from the left), first row) Miss Ruth Hovland, Mrs. Doris Parmenter, Miss Estella Kern and Miss Virtella Kern and Mrs. Virginia Hanson; (second row) Mrs. Edna Tudor, Miss Katherine Gies, Miss Aurelia Plautz, Miss Martha Dietrich and Miss Paula Hayes.

All of the new board members will serve three year terms, with the exception of Miss Hovland and Miss Hanson, who will each serve one year.

Officers for the coming year are Mrs. Flora Sams, president; Mrs. Beth Christensen, first vice president; Mrs. Pauline Niederhaus, second vice president; Miss Ona Wagner, third vice president; and Mrs. Lois Swindle, treasurer.

Church Ceremony

Miss Venetta Trogdon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Campbell of Ashland, became the bride of Ted L. Newman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Newman, at a candle-light service on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 20. Bouquets of chrysanthemums in gold and bronze decorated the chancel of the Lincoln Northeast Community Congregational Church for the ceremony, which was solemnized by the Rev. Milton O. Laib. Mrs. Harold Clough, organist, played the wedding music and the vocalist was Lloyd Edwards of Ashland.

The maid of honor was Miss Sharon Beetison of Omaha, and Mrs. Larry Newman was bridesmatron. The attendants' taffeta frocks in peppermint green and jade were fashioned in the daytime mode, and they carried cascades of gold-toned chrysanthemums. Miss Cherl Newman was the flower girl, and ringbearer was Ronnie Newman.

Larry Newman served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Larry Cohmer, Tom Fisher, Gary Null and Jim Mahoney.

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of white tissue taffeta. Satin applique in the lily motif highlighted the portrait neckline of the long-sleeved bodice, and the applique was repeated in the trim of the bouffant skirt which flared to floor length.

The couple will reside in Lincoln. Mrs. Newman is a former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Courtesies For Brides

Incentive for a pre-nuptial courtesy on Monday evening, was Miss Nancy Jo Miller, who will become the bride of Gene Phillips on Dec. 10. Entertaining at her home that evening was Miss Mary Loos. Following the dessert supper, the winter bride-elect was presented with a one-gift shower by the 16 guests.

Making announcement of her bridal party this morning is Miss Joyce Miller who will become the bride of Merle Backemeyer of Elmwood on Sunday, Nov. 27. The 7:30 o'clock ceremony will be solemnized at the Peter Van Fleet Methodist Church in Elmwood.

For her honor attendant, Miss Miller has chosen Miss Donna Miller of Plattsmouth. Mrs. Dean Crewdson of Lincoln will be the bridesmatron, and Miss Karen Howe of Alvo, the bridesmaid.

Serving his brother as best man will be Jerry Backemeyer of Milford. Seating the guests will be Dale Kunz and the bride-elect's brother, Clayton Miller, both of Elmwood, Eugene Eikerman of Alvo and Dick Rueter of Lincoln.

Honoring Miss Mary Jane Phelps on Saturday evening, Nov. 26, will be Mrs. Clark Springman and Mrs. Glenn Bahr who will entertain at the home of Mrs. Bahr. Following the dessert supper, the bride-elect will be presented with a miscellaneous shower.

Miss Phelps will become the bride of J. C. Olsen Graver on Saturday, Dec. 17. The ceremony will take place at Westminster Presbyterian Church.

Fun News In Suburbia

INDIAN VILLAGE

It is our pleasure to introduce this morning two newcomers to the talcum powder set in suburbia.

News from Mr. and Mrs. Russell Anderson tells us that they are the parents of a son, Daniel Lee, who was born on Thursday, Nov. 17, at St. Elizabeth Hospital. The young man has a four-year-old sister, Theresa.

Mrs. Anderson is the former Dorothy Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Smith of Palmyra. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Andersom.

The second addition to the bassinet brigade in the suburb is Veronica Leigh Nickell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nickell, who made her appearance at St. Elizabeth Hospital on Tuesday, Nov. 15.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Nickell. Mrs. Nickell is the former Johanna Hoover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hoover, of Springfield, Mass.

A change of address to note this morning for the Frank J. Miller family, formerly of 1525 Dakota. They now reside at 929 So. 39th.

COUNTRY CLUB TERRACE

The welcome mat is out this morning for S.Sgt. and Mrs. Robert C. Tesch and their three-year-old daughter, Robin. Formerly living in Rushden, England, the Tesch family moved into the home at 3985 Dunn Ave. last month.

Neighbors are happy to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Martin N. Ferwerda and their two daughters, five-year-old Crystal and Janet, who is three years old, to Lincoln. The Ferwerda family moved from Glen Rock, Wyo., recently and now resides at 4010 Dunn Ave.

Additional newcomers to Lincoln are Dr. and Mrs. John M. Igelman and their young sons, Jeff and David. Formerly residing in San Antonio, Tex., the family moved to Lincoln and 3919 Pace Blvd., recently.

Dr. Igelman is assigned to the Lincoln Air Force Base as a flight surgeon.

It is our pleasure to introduce this morning little Miss Karen Lynn Hesson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hesson, who made her debut at St. Elizabeth Hospital on Saturday, Nov. 19. Among her admirers are her brother, Charles, and her sister, Kelly.

The proud grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Allen Hesson and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wacker. Mrs. Hesson is the former Nancy Wacker.

And we should mention that the Hesson family are new residents in the suburb. They moved recently from 346 G to 2317 Burnham.

We also learned that the Glenn Kreuschers will join other members of the family for a traditional Thanksgiving dinner tomorrow at the home of Mr. Kreuscher's mother, Mrs. Grace L. Kreuscher.

Spending their first Thanksgiving in Lincoln tomorrow will be new residents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gordon and their nine year-old daughter, Nancy. The Gordon family moved to Lincoln and 3916 Pace Blvd. recently from Rantoul, Ill.

Extension Clubs Meet

Mrs. Sam Stehr was hostess on Thursday to the members of the Tea Time Extension Club at her home. Mrs. Walter K. Danley presided at the business meeting and the lesson on bread-baking was given by Mrs. Stehr.

Plans for the December Christmas party were discussed. In charge of arrangements for the affair will be Mrs. Phil Knaub, Mrs. Abner Pearsen, Mrs. John Stehr and Mrs. Lester Vest.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Annetta BesVoigne of Los Angeles, and Mrs. John Ball.

The monthly meeting of the North Bluff Extension Club was held last week at the home of Mrs. Fred Retzlaff with Mrs. Walter Sundeen as assisting hostess.

Mrs. Arthur Fagan and Mrs. George Finigan presented the lesson on bread-baking, and Mrs. Earl Ford gave a talk on caring for house plants. A report on the recent council meeting was given by Mrs. Otto Eickmeyer, president, and plans for participating in the annual Achievement Day, Dec. 2, at the College of Agriculture, were discussed.

The club's Christmas party will be held Dec. 20 at Kings' Buffet. A program and gift exchange have been planned.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. AL COMPROMISE PLAN:

Inter-League Slate, 9th NL Club In '61

...LOS ANGELES WOULD WAIT UNTIL 1962

By Jack Hand

New York (AP) — The American League Tuesday night said it would put off its entry into Los Angeles until 1962 if the National League will agree to expand immediately to 9 teams and enter into an inter-league schedule next year.

The proposal means the AL would operate next year with only one new franchise, the new Washington club that fills the vacancy in the nation's capital created by the transfer of the senators to Minneapolis-St. Paul.

It would be dependent on the National League adding one franchise at once — presumably either Houston or New York, scheduled now for National League franchises in 1962.

The AL proposal then would be that an inter-league schedule be worked out, with AL and NL teams playing a few games against clubs from the other league.

160-Game Slate

Each club would play an overall 160-game schedule.

The American League asked the National League for its answer by Dec. 5 -- which would be 3 days before the joint major league meetings open in St. Louis.

Neither Warren Giles, National League president, nor Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers of the NL, could be reached immediately for comment.

But an American League spokesman said both appeared in favor of such a plan.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said "it isn't the best answer in the world, but it is a solution to their problem. If the two leagues can get together on it, I will approve it."

Frick Insistent

Frick had insisted on a "fair and equitable arrangement between the two leagues before he would approve any American League move in Los Angeles.

The inter-league play, similar to an American League plan turned down by the National last winter, would be only for one year. In 1962 both leagues would complete expansion to 10 teams.

It was learned that the idea of the 9-team, inter-league play may have been planted by O'Malley in a morning summit meeting at the office of Frick.

O'Malley Idea

While all parties to the conference were mum, it was learned that O'Malley, trying to preserve his Los Angeles territory until the Dodgers' new stadium is completed in 1962, had suggested the American operate as a 9-team league next year.

There was no indication of which new National League franchise — Houston or New York — would become an immediate entry if the plan is agreed upon.

The National League, in previous discussions, had considered it unlikely that any new franchise could develop a team of major league status by next season.

Player Plan Set

The American League, however, already has set up a player allocation plan for its new club, or clubs, for next year.

The new Washington franchise last week was awarded to a group headed by Elwood (Pete) Quesada, Federal Aviation Agency administrator.

AL owners also began interviwing bidders for its Los Angeles franchise.

Earlier Chuck Comiskey, executive vice president of the Chicago White Sox, revealed that he had turned down an appeal by the club owners to operate the Los Angeles franchise. Comiskey said he was "not interested at this time."

Three prospective operators lined up to present their bids. They were:

Gene Klein of Los Angeles, representing National Theater and Television Inc.

Charles O. Finley, Gary, Ind., insurance broker.

Kenyon Brown, Los Angeles radio-TV executive, whose group includes hotelman Conrad Hilton.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant

Sports Editor, The Star

Good Nucleus

Looking to the 1961 football season, Nebraska should be well-fortified in the personnel department once again.

Main chore—it seems habitual—will be to come up with a first-rate quarterback.

Against Oklahoma, 28 Huskers saw service and 21 of them will be back next fall. Key losses are tackles Ron McDole and Al Wellman, center Don Fricke, guard Darrell Cooper and backs Pat Fischer and Clay White.

The Husker freshmen indicated they would have several linemen capable of helping the varsity, while the holdovers—Mick Tingelhoff, Gary Toogood, Bob Jones, George Haney, Al Fischer and Dwain Carlson—appear strong enough to form a fine nucleus. And don't forget tackle Archie Cobb—a punter deluxe.

There's no other way to describe next year's end corps than loaded! NU is likely to be the envy of the league with Don Purcell, Jim Huge, Bill Comstock, Pat Salerno and Larry Donovan rating veteran status. The ends were probably the Huskers' strongest and deepest spot this year and the flankers should all be improved next season.

In the backfield, the Huskers can count of fellows who gained 196 of the 277 yards netted against OU returning. Top man, of course, is Thunder Thornton, and fellows like Noel Martin, Bernie Clay, Bennie Dillard, Dennis Steuwe, Warren Powers and Gene Ward will all be useful.

There's no complete lack of talent at quarterback, either, but it will be interesting to see who emerges as the top signal-caller. Ron Meade and John Faiman will have the most experience, while Dennis Claridge may turn out to be the best equipped, physically.

This QB battle may be the highlight of spring practice. All things considered, if Coach Bill Jennings & Co., can come up with some top-notch organizing in the spring and solve the inconsistency problem next fall, there is basis for optimism in 1961.

Kansas Again?

Kansas, which dumped Missouri handily to capture the Big 8 title, may be in the throne room to stay for a year or two.

Only 5 of KU's top 23 players—fullback Doyle Schick, center Fred Hageman, end Sam Simpson, guard Bill Burnison and defensive halfback Roger Hill—will be absent next fall. By the way, that means John Hadl, Bert Coan—unless docked by the Big 8—and Curtis McClinton will return.

It's also interesting to note that the Jayhawk freshman team beat Missouri, 33-7, after stumbling to a 0-0 tie with Kansas State. Judging from the K-State frosh performance here, it's safe to assume KU's frosh had a pretty bad day.

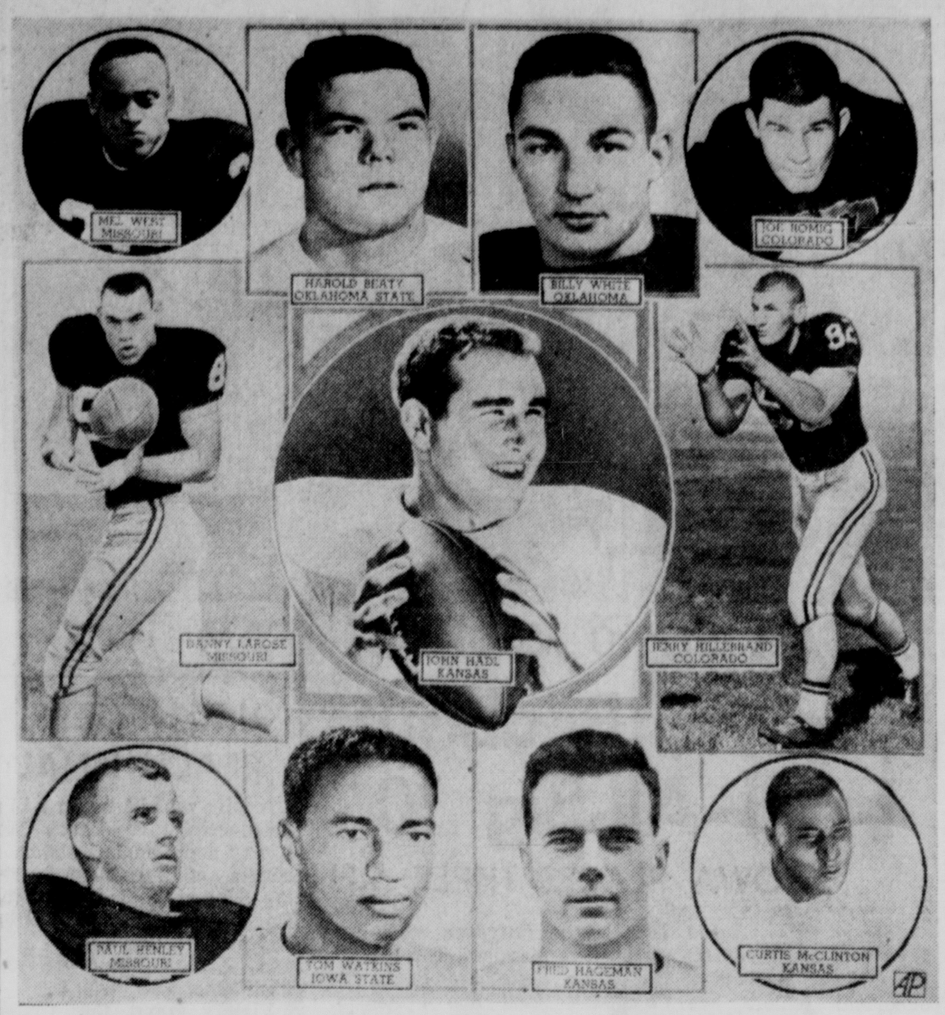

Missouri loses 12 of its top 23, including backs Mel West, Donnie Smith, Norris Stevenson, Fred Brossart and Ed Mehrer (they were the power and speed portion of the Tiger attack this fall) and linemen Danny LaRose, Rocky Calhoun and Mike Langan.

Last Word

Dewey Nemetz of Blair pens a note to this corner that didn't make last week's mail bag, the football windup. Here is his long-distance analysis of the Nebraska football team:

"This Nebraska football squad would have been better off, since the Texas game, if Pat Fischer had been in Turkey. Pat Fischer had neither the ability nor the temperament to be a quarterback. This may be somewhat radical, but this squad has shown less coaching than any in Nebraska history. Oklahoma will murder them."

Comment: Reports of Nebraska's death at Oklahoma have been greatly exaggerated. As for Fischer, I think he's the best offensive threat NU has had since Bobby Reynolds and certainly one of the best defensive backs seen at Memorial Stadium in years. During Pat's career, the Huskers won 11 games—and he was instrumental in supplying the big plays in 6 of them. I shudder to think of how dreadful the past 3 NU football seasons would have been without Pat Fischer.

AP ALL-BIG 8 FOOTBALL TEAM

Tigers, Jays Place 3 Each

... PURCELL MAKES 2ND UNIT

By Skipper Patrick

Kansas City (AP) — The champion Kansas Jayhawks and the runner-up Missouri Tigers, who lost to Kansas 23-7 in last Saturday's conference finale, each placed 3 men on the Associated Press Big 8 All-Star football team.

The Jayhawks, who succeeded long-time Big 8 kingpin Oklahoma to the title, won first team berths with John Hadl, a triple-threat quarterback of national-ranking caliber; Curtis McClinton, a briusing line-pounding halfback, and center Fred Hageman, a bulwark on defense.

Missouri, which was sailing along with an undefeated 9-0 season before losing to Kansas, placed end Danny LaRose; Mel West, a great running back, and guard Paul Henley on the first team.

Cooperating in the All-Star selections were coaches and sportswriters and sportscasters who saw the athletes in action.

LaRose, a 221-pound senior, and Hadl, 210-pound junior, established themselves as strong candidates for All-America honors with fine performances in all 10 games.

Romig, Hageman Repeat

Making the All-Star first unit for the second straight year were Joe Romig, Colorado's 199-pound junior guard and an All-America candidate, and Hageman, a 220-pound senior.

Others gaining berths on the first mythical team were Tom Watkins, 178-pound Iowa State fullback; Jerry Hillebrand, Colorado's 231-pound junior end, and tackles Billy White, 197, Oklahoma junior and Harold Beaty, Oklahoma State's 220-pounder, a senior.

Hadl, LaRose, Romig and West were choices of all those participating in the selections.

Purcell Misses Spot

Closest competition came for one of the end berths where Hillebrand edged Nebraska's Don Purcell, a great defensive player, for the honor.

There also was competition at center where support was evident for Iowa State's Arden Esslinger, Don Fricke of Nebraska, Mike Langan of Missouri and Bill Scribner of Colorado.

Converted from left half where he made the second All-Big 8 team as a sophomore last year, Hadl proved a slick operator at quarter. He was among the top individuals in passing, rushing and punting.

West, 189-pound junior, was the bread-and-butter player in Missouri's strong rushing game.

West carried a near 5-yard per play rushing average and proved one of the leading ball carriers in Missouri history.

McClinton 'Vicious'

McClinton, a 212-pound junior, was a vicious runner and a good pass receiver in Kansas' fiery offense. He also was rated high on defense.

Watkins, a senior from West Memphis, Ark., shouldered the offensive load in Iowa State's best Big 8 record (4-3) in 16 seasons. He beat out two other fine fullbacks in Ronnie Hartline of Oklahoma and Chuck Weiss of Colorado.

LaRose and Hillebrand, both rangy, pro-type ends, were aggressive defensive players and good pass receivers.

Top Tackle Crop

White and Beaty were tops in a good crop of tackles. White excelled as a blocker, while Beaty was used as a tackle on offense and an end on defense.

Romig and Henley, the latter a 209-pound junior, both were key blockers in their teams' sharp rushing games.

Henley was chosen ahead of Elvin Basham, Kansas' fierce little defender, and Dan Celoni, Iowa State.

Comprising the second unit were Purcell and Bill Elkins, Colorado, ends; Ed Blaine, Missouri, and Bill Eurich, Colorado, tackles; Basham and Celoni, guards; Esslinger, center; and backs Dave Hoppmann, Iowa State, Donnie Smith, Missouri, and Hartline and Weiss.

Gophers Take Rose Bid, Meet Huskies

...BOWL TRIP CLIMAXES SENSATIONAL RISE

Minneapolis (AP) — The University of Minnesota Tuesday night accepted an invitation to play Washington in the annual Rose Bowl game Jan. 2, 1961.

The offer was extended to Minnesota's No. 1 ranked Gophers at 7:30 p.m. by Tom Hamilton, commissioner of the Western Association of Universities, and accepted in short order by Minnesota authorities.

It sends Minnesota to the Rose Bowl for the first time and climaxes an amazing rise from football oblivion for the Gophers, who were last in the Big 10 in 1959 and had won only 5 of their last 24 games prior to this season.

With one of the biggest, toughest lines in the country, they swept to 8 victories in 9 games this year and wound up in a tie with Iowa, No. 2 ranked nationally, for the Big 10 title.

Vote To Accept

Earlier Tuesday Minnesota's faculty-controlled senate had voted to accept an invitation if offered, and the decision was conveyed to Far West officials.

At the same time, the senate voted to continue its long-standing opposition to the principle of Big Ten participation in the bowl.

It justified its vote for the bowl on grounds it would not be fair to Big 10 teams in the future if Minnesota declined this opportunity, that it might jeopardize their chances of getting an invitation.

Coach Murray Warmath, whose own comeback saga paralleled that of his team's, made this statement:

'Great Honor'

"The football squad and coaching staff of Minnesota are happy to be invited to play in the Rose Bowl. It is an honor to be representing the Big 10 and we are proud to renew our relations with the fine University of Washington team."

The decision by the Far West was something of a surprise. The guessing had been that Washington was leaning toward Navy.

Navy was the only team which beat Washington (15-14) during the season and was expected to be the eastern Rose Bowl representative if the Middies beat Army this Saturday.

—ONLY TWO MAJOR BOWLS READY—

Oregon-Penn St. Slated In Liberty

By Associated Press

Minnesota — which never had played in a post-season game before—Tuesday night accepted an invitation to meet the University of Washington in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 2.

Thus the second of the major bowl pairings was completed.

Minnesota, which climbed all the way from the Big 10 basement to co-champion with Iowa this year, has an 8-1 record. Washington, king of the Big 5, has a 9-1 mark.

Only a few hours earlier, Oregon (7-2-1) was tapped to meet Penn State (6-3) in the Liberty Bowl in Philadelphia on Dec. 17.

The selection of Minnesota was somewhat of a surprise. It was assumed that Navy, the only team to beat Washington during the regular season, was No. 1 in line for the berth.

But the selection of Minnesota, which had been against bowl tieups in the past, was viewed as paving the way for a new contract between the Big 10 and the Rose Bowl.

The Cotton Bowl at Dallas has Arkansas (8-2) as host team and is angling for a second appearance by Navy, which defeated Rice 20-7 there in 1958. That was Navy's last post-season game. game.

The Orange Bowl at Miami, was Missouri (9-1) signed up and lists Navy, Florida (7-2) and Alabama (7-1-1), in that order as a foe for the Tigers.

Duke, the Atlantic Coast Conference champ, had been a leading contender to oppose Missouri until last week's 7-6 upset by North Carolina. The Blue Devils have a 7-2 record with a Dec. 3 date against UCLA remaining.

The Sugar Bowl in New Orleans, with two berths to fill, has one reserved for Mississippi (8-0-1). Win or lose Saturday against Mississippi State, Ole Miss gets it.

Rice (7-2) is the top pick for the other spot. Rice can tie Arkansas for the Southwest Conference crown by beating Baylor, but a 3-0 upset by Arkansas ruled out the Cotton Bowl for the Owls.

The Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., picked up Baylor (7-2) and already has invited Florida to be the host team.

The Gators, who play Miami Saturday, are prohibited from accepting a bid to any bowl until the completion of the SEC season this week.

With Big 10 terms restricted to the Rose Bowl, Kansas (7-2-1) and Auburn (8-1) on probation and Syracuse rejecting all bids, Alabama, Texas, Tennessee and Duke are in the running.

Among the bowls, the Tangerine received an acceptance by The Citadel (7-2-1) to oppose Tennessee Tech (7-2) at Orlando, Fla.

The Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston and the Gotham Bowl at New York still are without a team.

Orange Blossom Bowl Teams Set

Tallahassee, Fla. —Florida A. & M.'s opponent in the Orange Bowl football game at Miami Dec. 10 will be Langston University of Langston, Okla.

A. & M. President George Gore Jr. announced Langston's acceptance Tuesday.

—SENATE STRESSING PROTECTION MEASURES FOR 25—

Boxing Witnesses Kept Under Wraps

Washington (AP) — Senate investigators of mobster influence on professional boxing said Tuesday they are keeping 25 witnesses under wraps for their protection.

The Senate Antimonopoly Subcommittee said the names of the 25 will be kept secret until the start of public hearings Dec. 5.

The subcommittee had announced before that the approximately 40 witnesses would include James D. Norris, Chicago boxing promoter; Charles (Sonny) Liston, one of the top contenders for the world heavyweight boxing championship; and the alleged boxing racketeer, Frank (Blinky) Palermo of New York and Philadelphia.

The 25 additional witnesses include an assortment of boxers, one of them a former champion, boxing promoters, matchmakers, managers and some shadowy fringe characters who are said to have ties with the underworld.

The subcommittee's investigation has been in recess since June when Jake LaMotta, former middleweight champion, testified he took a dive in a fight with Billy Fox in New York's Madison Square Garden in 1947. LaMotta said he did so in exchange for a shot at the title he later won.

Palermo was named in testimony as Fox's manager at that time. He also was described as a temporary underworld czar of boxing while racketeer Frankie Carbo is in jail in New York for illegal undercover activities in the boxing business.

The subcommittee's counsel, John G. Bonomi, confirmed that the investigation later in the year may turn to reports of payoffs to some sports writers in some of the big cities.

Bonomi refused to give any names or details about the purported payments by boxing promoters to sports writers.

Scouts Say Army, Navy Both Better

Annapolis, Md. (AP) — Take it from the rival scouts, the Army and Navy football teams meeting Saturday in the Philadelphia Stadium are both better than they were a year ago.

"Navy is a better football team than last year because of its offense which is a happy medium between running and passing," said Scout Chuck Gottfried of Army.

"Army is a better football team this time, even though it doesn't have the outstanding individual personnel, because it has more team effort, and is hungrier after last year's 43-12 defeat," said scout Phil Monahan of Navy.

"It's going to be a whale of a football game," concluded coach Wayne Hardin of Navy.

Gottfried was interviewed by telephone at West Point Tuesday from a Navy news conference.

He said he was impressed after scouting Navy in its last 5 games mostly by Navy's balanced offense, "about 45 per cent passing and 55 per cent rushing."

"Last year, we thought you could overload your defense either against Navy's passing or running," Gottfried said.

"You can't this year. Their offense is better planned and they carry it out. They play their type of game and do the same whether they're ahead or behind.

"By our statistics, their main asset has been to make the big play on 3rd down. With 3rd down and needing 5 yards or more, they've made it half of the time and it usually results in a touchdown.

"They make the big play on either a short pass or run by Joe Bellino or Joe Matalavage."

Of Bellino, of course, Gottfried was as rhapsodic as any one. "Without Bellino, Navy would be the same type of football team as we are," the Army scout said.

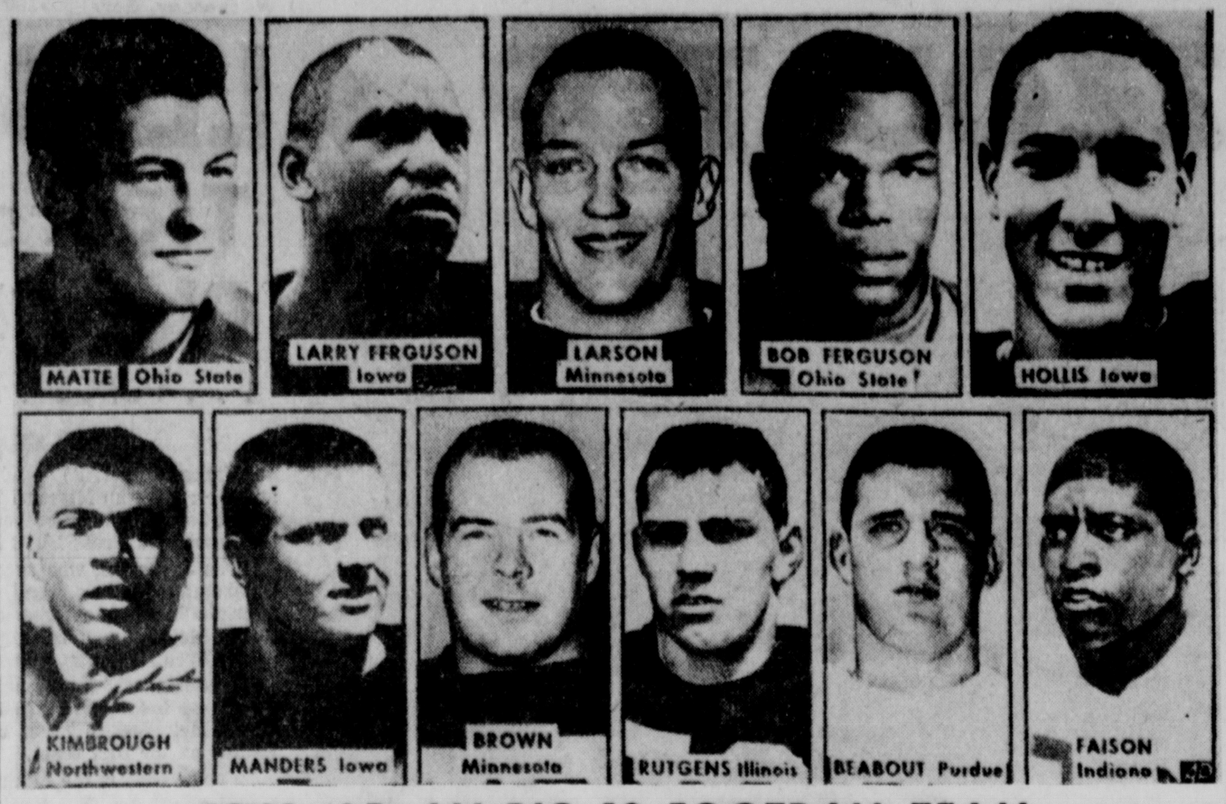

Bednarik Sends Fruit To Gifford

Philadelphia (AP) — Chuck Bednarik, the Philadelphia Eagles' linebacker whose jarring tackle sent halfback Frank Gifford of the New York Giants to the hospital Sunday, has sent Gifford a basket of fruit with a card attached expressing his regrets.

"Sorry that you're in the hospital and I hope you get out soon enough to play your usual great game on Sunday," Bednarik said in the card sent to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in New York.

The fruit and card were sent out before it was disclosed that Gifford will be sidelined for 30 days. The breakaway runner and pass-catching star suffered a deep concussion but no permanent injury.

Brown, Beabout Lead All-Big 10

...IOWA PLACES THREE MEN

Chicago (AP) — Guard Tom Brown of Minnesota and tackle Jerry Beabout of Purdue, both seniors, are the only unanimous choices on the 1960 All-Big 10 football team named Tuesday by the Associated Press.

Co-champions Iowa and Minnesota landed 3 and two places, respectively, on the No. 1 lineup selected in a survey of AP Big 10 football writers and the AP's regional All-America board.

Ohio State also took two berths.

One spot each went to Indiana, Northwestern, Purdue and Illinois. The only repeater is tackle Joe Rutgens of Illinois.

In addition to the 240-pound Brown, Minnesota's other all-conference representative is Greg Larson, 230-pound senior center.

Iowa's 3 places went to backs Wilburn Hollis and Larry Ferguson and guard Mark Manders. The two from Ohio State are backs Tom Matte and Bob Ferguson.

Completing the first team are ends Earl Faison, Indiana, and Elbert Kimbrough, Northwestern.

The line, averaging 223½ pounds, is heavier than the 1959 forward wall by 12 pounds a man.

The backfield, averaging 200, is heftier by 16 pounds a man in a season unique with running quarterbacks overshadowing halfbacks.

Hollis and Matte each played quarterback. The only halfback is Larry Ferguson. Bob Ferguson is a full-blown fullback.

PGA Segregation Clause Attacked

Sacramento, Calif. (AP)—Irked by the Professional Golfer's Association's refusal to strike the "white only" membership clause from its constitution, California Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk said Tuesday:

"We intend to take every step available to us, both in and out of the courts, to force the PGA either to eliminate this obnoxious restriction or to cease all activity of any kind within our state."

The PGA national convention voted 64 to 17 in Phoenix, Ariz., last week against deleting the Caucasian membership provision

Minnesotans Going Wild Over Choice

Minneapolis (UPI)—Thousands of Minnesota students, screaming "we're going to the Rose Bowl" over and over again, paraded down University Avenue Tuesday night in what police called the largest demonstration they've ever seen.

Driven off the busy thoroughfare by police, the students formed a larger, and nosier, parade behind the student union and poured in columns two blocks long into another street.

Volunteer bandsmen snatched drums and bugles to add to the din of automobile horns.

Students converged on the central campus area from dormitories and rooming houses more than two miles away. Many were coatless in the 20-degree night air. They hugged each other, sang, danced and cheered their team.

Traffic jammed up as hundreds of other students arrived by the carload. The demonstration appeared ready to continue long past midnight.

Total Offense, Punting Titles Still Undecided

By Associated Press

Four individual titles have been virtually clinched in major college football but the race still is wide open for the total offense and punting champions.

Mel Melin of Washington State leads total offense with a total of 1,715 yards, 193 better than New Mexico State's Charley Johnson, who is second.

However, Melin has finished his season and Johnson has one more game, Saturday against Texas Western.

Perhaps an even greater threat to the total offense leader is Bill Kilmer, UCLA's tailback, who is 266 yards back in 4th place with two games to go. UCLA still has Utah and Duke on its schedule.

Dick Fitzsimmons of Denver is top punter with a 44.3 yard average.

If he can maintain that average in his final game he should win but if he slips there are 4 men within striking distance with better than 42-yard averages and one game left.

They are Bobby Walden of Georgia, Kent Rocholt of San Jose St., Jerry Stovall of LSU and Willie Vasquez of Texas Western.

Bob Gaiters of unbeaten New Mexico State (9-0) has a lock on the rushing title with 1,193 yards. Anybody within 400 yards of him is through for the year.

Gaiters also should succeed teammate Pervis Atkins as scoring champ. Gaiters has 133 points to 104 for Navy's Joe Bellino.

Kelso's 8 Wins In 9 Runs Earns Horse Of Year Honor

New York (AP)—Kelso, who won 8 of 9 races this season for the Bohemia Stable of Mrs. Richard C. du Pont, was named 1960 Horse of the Year Tuesday in the annual poll of the Morning Telegraph and Daily Racing Form.

Kelso, a gelded son of Your Host-Maid of Flight, by Count Fleet, also was named best 3-year-old, although he did not win one of the Kentucky Derby-Preakness-Belmont triple crown races.

Kelso won his last 6 starts, and earned $293,310 for the season.

In the voting of 31 staff experts, Kelso received 22 votes as best of the year, while Bald Eagle from Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim's Cain Hoy Stable got 9 votes.

For the 3-year-old crown, Kelso got 25 votes, Preakness winner Bally Ache received 5, and T. V. Lark one.

Kelso beat Bald Eagle in the two mile Jockey Club Gold Cup in American record time.

Patricia Jacobs' Hail To Reason, who retired after an injury in the fall, made a unanimous runway with the 2-year-old colt title. Hail To Reason won 9 of 18 starts, and earned $328,434.

Bowl Of Flowers, from Isabel Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade Stable, also was the unanimous selection as champion 2-year-old filly.

Winner of 6 of her 8 starts, Bowl Of Flowers earned $198,706. Last year, Brookmeade's Sword Dancer was Horse of the Year.

Bald Eagle, who won the Washington D.C. International at Laurel for the second consecutive year, was voted best handicap horse.

Bald Eagle earned $398,085 in winning 5 of his 11 starts this year.

Berlo, from Willie du Pont's Foxcatcher Farm, was the unanimous selection as best filly or mare, as well as the champion 3-year-old filly. Berlo won 7 of 9 starts, and collected $198,446.

William B. MacDonald Jr.'s Royal Native, best of the 3-year-old fillies in 1959, was voted best handicap filly or mare.

MacDonald, Florida baseball club owner and part owner of Tropical Park race track, paid $252,500 in March for Royal Native.

Royal Native won 9 of 18 starts, and earned $261,226 in 1960.

Honores as the best steeplechaser went to Benguala, owned by the Montpleier Farm of Mrs. Mario du Pont Scott.

UPI Rates Minnesota First In Close Vote

New York (UPI) — Minnesota, Iowa, and Mississippi stormed toward the finish line in the race for 1960's national collegiate football championship Tuesday, and the United Press International board of coaches rated Minnesota just an eyelash in front.

Indications were for a tight race in the final balloting by the board of 35 coaches next week, when the winner will be awarded a permanent trophy by UPI as the national champion.

Minnesota's Golden Gophers, absent from the top spot for one week, got the nod from the coaches this week by only 3 points, 314 to 311, over Iowa with Mississippi a close 3rd at 267.

Iowa had 13 first-place votes, Minnesota and Mississippi 11 each, but the Gophers scored heavily in second-place votes.

Minnesota, victor over Iowa two weeks ago, thus had no assurance of victory in the final ratings. Their present point total was far from the 347 out of a possible 350 they received in the balloting after the win over Iowa.

Minnesota, Iowa, and 4th-place Washington have completed their seasons but Mississippi still must face rival Mississippi State this Saturday.

Win-lose-or-draw in the final ratings, Coach Murray Warmath's Gophers have turned in amazing comeback from a 2-7 record last year.

Their only loss this year was the upset by Purdue, and they bounced right back from that to whip Wisconsin, 26-7, last Saturday to finish the regular season with an 8-1 record.

Missouri, which took over the No. 1 berth last week, dropped all the way to No. 5 5 as a result of its 23-7 loss to Kansas, which took 10th.

UPI TOP 10

First place votes and won-lost records in parentheses. Points figured out on a 10 for first, 9 for second, etc., basis:

1. Minnesota (11), (8-1) 314
2. Iowa (13), (8-1) 311
3. Mississippi (11), (8-0-1) 267
4. Washington (9-1) 170
5. Missouri (9-1) 167
6. Arkansas (8-2) 160
7. Navy (8-1) 97
8. Ohio State (7-2) 94
9. Auburn (8-1) 89
10. Kansas (7-2-1) 62

SECOND 10

11. Rice (7-3); 12. Michigan State (6-2-1); 13. Duke (7-2); 14. Syracuse (8-2); 15. Baylor (7-2); 16. Yale (9-0); 17. Purdue (4-4-1); 18. New Mexico State (9-0); 19. tie, Alabama (7-1-1), Florida (7-2).

Others—Texas, Penn State, Army, Utah State, Oregon, Colorado, Ohio U., Georgia Tech.

Fine Sport: Shooting Up Foxy Crows

Along with thousands of ducks and geese, hunters have another species of bird to gun — the bountiful crow, the Nebraska Game Commission reminded, sportsmen Tuesday.

Arrival of the migratory flocks of these black bandits has been noted during the past several weeks, with a big build-up in the Axtell area last week end.

Shooting is prime at this time of year, the Game Commission said, because the flocks contain good numbers of the younger, more easily decoyed birds. No hunting permits are required, but hunters must still request permission before hunting on privately owned lands.

Three methods of crow hunting are in popular use—flyway stations, wood hopping, and roost shooting. A spot near a fence or shelter belt used by the birds as a flyway is good. Blinds or good camouflage are almost necessary, for the crow has excellent vision.

Veteran hunters use calls; if a bird thinks another crow is in trouble or having a good time, he will investigate. Birds which have been killed may be thrown into trees or propped up to decoy live crows. No. 7½ shot in fairly open bores is often used.

WANT ADS are for Everybody!

Right now you are probably unconsciously identifying the cartoons on this page. And as your mental list of different types of people adds up, you are giving yourself the reason why Family Want Ads in this newspaper perform such a vital community service.

Fashion model, grandmother, construction worker, secretary, teenager and farmer . . . all are people who many times in the course of their lives find occasion to benefit from the Family Want Ads.

Aptly called "The People's Market Place," the Want Ads are not just for your neighbor, or for the people caricatured here . . .they are for you too!

If you are not a daily Want Ad reader, you have yet to learn how interesting they are. And if you have never advertised in a Journal and Star Family Want Ad, you have yet to learn how amazingly fast they bring results. Join the thousands of your neighbors and get the Family Want Ad habit. Journal and Star Want Ads are for everybody, and that includes you!

To place your Want Ad advertising unused articles in your home, merely Dial GR 7-8902 and ask for Want Ads. A courteous Ad-visor will help you.

Journal and Star WANT ADS

Dial GR 7-8902

It is never clear to me why, but this is the time of year the new ladies bathing suits come out. Colder than billy-o outside. But down to the bikini buff on the fashion pages.

I do not read things like this for news. I read them to forecast my financial future—I am chief bathing suit buyer for a teen-age child.

"One number is a draped sheath with one wide strap, the whole made of 24-karat gold on nylon tricot: $75."

That, dear hearts, is gloomy news.

☆ ☆ ☆

The chanciest time of our year is the neighborhood Aquacade. It is a charity affair and, I am happy to report, has not had to extend its bounty to the participants—though it has been a close thing some years.

The charity has done well. We have contributed a swimming daughter to this watery spectacle each year since she was able to pinch her nose and jump off the diving board.

It has been a source of social satisfaction. There was a lot of extra car pool driving during afternoon practice. But if you are going first-class, why go mediocre, I say.

Anyway, we contributed the daughter. AND we contributed her bathing suits.

Into each life some rain must fall . . .

☆ ☆ ☆

I should explain that the Aquacade is worked out by ladies who work for free. For charity and good works.

They work out different numbers to music. The young ladies of the Aquacade swim to them.

It is terribly colorful. And one thing that makes it most colorful is the bathing suits.

Unfortunately, some of these bathiing suits are so colorful they can never, never be worn again. Not in public anyway. You could sun in them around the house. But what if some boy drove up and saw you! The thought chills us.

So we really never wear them again after Aquacade.

☆ ☆ ☆

I tell you when Aquacade approached, you couldn't cut the tension in our village with a freshly sharpened Miltown.

Everybody sat around waiting for their daughters to come home. Waiting to see what number they had been cast in.

By next day, down at the post office, you could tell whose daughter was in what.

The parents who drew the candy-stripe number — "the cutest thing you ever saw"— but the candy-striped bathing suits would never see daylight after the performance. Those parents you could tell by the sad look on their candy-striped faces.

The parents whose daughters drew the seal number in basic black were quite cheerful. They had the gayety of a reprieved man. Black by golly! Whoops!

☆ ☆ ☆

During the years, we drew a number of different costumes. And my own face has shown the effects—alternate hysteria of joy and resigned frowns cannot be cured by Pond's, no matter what the ads say.

We have drawn the candy stripes—once we drew a Japanese number. That was the day I started on tranquilizers.

We drew the seal number one year. But by the time I found out, I was so nervous it didn't really do me much good.

Now comes the time of the new bathing suits. Reminding us all that if winter comes, Aquacade is sure to follow.

If they do a gold number this next year—$75. If they do that I will go off the diving board myself. And I won't pinch my nose, either.

12 To Honorary In Electrical Engineering

Twelve University of Nebraska undergraduates were initiated into Eta Kappa Nu, an honorary electrical engineering organization.

The new members are Clark Baltzell, Robert Meier and Ronald Schafer, all of Lincoln, Dan Blazek of Omaha, James Brink of Rochester, Minn., LeRoy Holcomb of Chambers, Clifford Kriefels of Nebraska City, John Kucera of Milligan, Darrel Lau of Hastings, Robert Miley of Adrian, Mich., Jerome Twibell of Orchard, and Larry Weitbenchamp of West Point.

Plastic In Cars

New York (UPI)—The average 1961 model car will use 22 pounds of plastics or two pounds more than 1960 models and double the 1954 amount, according to industry figures. The plastic industry claims that its products will replace 150 pounds of metal in the average new car.

Demo State Committee Reports $39,703 Outlay

The Nebraska Democratic State Central Committee reported spending $39,703 for the period covering June 16 through Nov. 17 in its expense statement filed Tuesday with the secretary of state.

Otto Koutouc Jr. of Humboldt, treasurer of the committee, also reported receiving $42,252 in contributions for the same period. Balance now on hand was listed at $2,549.

According to the statement, the committee spent $5,450 on the campaign of Frank Morrison of Lincoln who won the gubernatorial race in the Nov. 8 election against Republican John Cooper of Humboldt.

The report listed $5,700 spent for the campaign of Robert Conrad of Genoa who was defeated in the U.S. Senatorial race by Republican incumbert Sen. Carl Curtis of Minden.

Conrad was named to replace the late Democratic Gov. Ralph Brooks who was originally set to run against Curtis.

The committee spent $2,500 in advance campaign funds for Brooks' campaign.

Other campaign expenses for Democratic candidates with office sought and outcome against their GOP opponents:

—Gerald Whelan of Hastings, First District Congress, 2,150, (defeated by Phil Weaver of Falls City).

—Joseph Benesch of Omaha, Second District Congress, $2,150, (defeated by Glenn Cunningham of Omaha).

—Lawrence Brock of Wakefield, Third District Congress, $2,150, (defeated by Ralph Beermann of South Sioux City).

—Donald McGinley of Ogallala, Fourth District Congress, 2,150, (defeated by David Martin of Kearney).

—Norman Otto of Kearney, lieutenant governor, $1,000, (defeated by Governor Burney of Hartington who became governor when Brooks died).

—W. O. Baldwin of Hebron, attorney general, $1,500, (defeated by Clarence Meyer of Lincoln).

—Richard Larsen of Omaha, state treasurer, $999, (defeated by Clarence L. F. Swanson of Omaha).

Other expense reports filed:

—Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, state Legislature in the 32nd District, $185, (won).

—Matt Wylie of Elgin, state Legislature in the 27th District, $55, (won).

UAL TO BORROW $25 MILLION FOR JETS

The State Railway Commission Tuesday granted United Air Lines authority to borrow $25 million to acquire new jet-propelled aircraft.

In the same order, the commission ruled that it had the authority and jurisdiction over approval of the $25 million in securities of the airline.

United had asked that the commission either disclaim jurisdiction over issuance of the securities or else authorize United to issue the securities.

The commission said it was anticipated that United would continue to make borrowings in connection with its program for the purchase of additional jet powered aircraft and related flight and ground equipment and for other purposes.

The commission said that United has under consideration the possibility of ordering additional jet engine aircraft, although at present it has not made a final determination of the number of aircraft which may be required or when an order will be placed.

The anticipated cost of jet engine aircraft, fully equipped, which are presently on order by United, total $143,300,000.

The commission also granted authority to Central Electric and Gas Co. of Lincoln to issue and sell $1,300,000 aggregate principal amount of additional first mortgage sinking fund bonds.

The money will be used for construction, extension and improvement of the company's present facilities in connection with its 1961 expansion program.

Automatic Buying

Washington (UPI) — Americans are putting well over a billion dollars into coin-operated machines to buy cigarettes and cigars, the publication Tobacco News estimates. Tobacco products are by far the biggest selling items in the field of automatic merchandising, averaging 38 to 40% of sales in recent years.

Overseas Investment

New York (UPI) — Overseas business investments of U.S. companies are now over $30 billion. Of this, $10.2 billion is in Canada, $8.2 billion in Latin America and $5.3 billion in Europe, according to Sales Management magazine.

25 Named To Music Fraternity At NU

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"
New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.
As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.
Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).
(1) COLONAID moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID's unequalled rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.
COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

Stocks Take Moderate Loss

New York (AP)—A spate of late selling sent an irregular stock market to a moderate loss Tuesday. Trading was active.

Volume of 3.43 million shares compared with 3.09 million Monday.

Blue chips among steels, chemicals and rails were hit fairly hard. Among other casualties were recent favorites in the fields of electronics, photography and other "science" categories.

Key stocks fell from fractions to more than a point while more widely-moving issues lost more.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 3.44 to 601.10.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped .30 to 214.60 with the industrials down .40, the rails down .70 and the utilities up .10.

Of 1,248 issues trade, 401 advanced and 590 declined. New highs for the year totaled 27 and new lows 26.

Ten of the 15 most active stocks declined, four advanced and one was unchanged.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed. Volume was 1.12 million shares compared with 1.1 million Monday.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds declined.

Bond volume mounted to $6.02 million par value from $5.13 million Monday.

Markets At A Glance

New York (AP) —

Stocks — Mixed; moderate loss, changes narrow.

Bonds — Governments decline; corporates steady.

Cotton — Irregular; liquidation and commission house buying.

Chicago—

Wheat — Higher; exports and short covering.

Corn — Higher; commercial demand and short covering.

Oats — Higher with corn.

Soybeans — Narrowly mixed; late selling.

Hogs — Steady to 25 cents lower; top $18.50.

Cattle — Slaughter steers strong to 50 cents higher; top $28.75.

CORN FUTURES PRICES ARE UP

Chicago (AP) — Corn futures, with gains running to two cents a bushel, had the unusual role of bellwether Tuesday in a generally higher grain market on the Board of Trade.

After several days of heavy pressure under which all corn contracts retreated to a succession of low prices for the season the grain sharply reversed direction Tuesday on moderate commercial demand and heavy short covering. The advances were the broadest for that grain in several weeks.

Other grains moved up major fractions generally while soybeans finished narrowly mixed after a flurry or two of firmness.

At the close, wheat was ¼-1⅛ cents a bushel higher, December $2.01⅞-02; corn ⅞-2 cents higher, December $1.02¾; oats ½-⅞ higher, December 58½-⅝; rye ⅝-1 cent higher, December $1.10⅞; soybeans ¾ higher to ⅛ lower, January $2.15⅞-16.

LANCASTER VOTE NOW OFFICIAL

The official canvass of the Lancaster County vote in the Nov. 8 general election made no changes, as expected, in the position of candidates from the unofficial tabulations.

However, the vote shattered previous records in all departments:

—a total of 81.2% of Lincoln's registered voters went to the polls—or 50,791 out of 62,548 registered.

—the total county vote of 60,687 shattered the previous record of 55,328 set in the 1956 general election.

—Lincoln's 62,548 registered voters topped the previous high of 57,548 in the 1957 city general and 57,020 in the 1956 presidential election.

—the absent and disabled vote topped only slightly at 2,630 the previous record of 2,625 set in 1952.

—only the rural vote of 7,266 failed to top the previous high of 7,387 set in 1952, but was understandable because of the declining rural population in the county.

Election Commission Fred Cassidy was obviously pleased with the voter turnout, noting that the 81.2% Lincoln registered-voter turnout compared with the 59.3% in the primary.

Official results of the absent and disabled vote and the totalvote (includes A & D) are:

NU Debate Teams Record 18 Wins

Six University of Nebraska debate teams won 18 debates and lost 6 in two spearate tournaments over the weekend, Debate Coach Donald Olson announced.

The tournaments were held at University of South Dakota and Kearney State Teachers College.

At Vermillion, S.D., Larry Meyer of Omaha also won superior in oratory and Gary Pokorny of Schuyler was first in his group in extemporaneous speaking. No ratings were given in the latter division.

In the senior debate division, Meyer and Stephen George of Lincoln won three and lost one and Ellen Nore of Genoa and Kathryn Madsen of North Platte won two and lost two.

In the junior division, Larry Rogers of Lincoln and Charles Peek of McCook won 4 and lost none. Richard Weill of Lincoln and Pokorny also won 4 and lost none.

At Kearney, Susie Moffitt and Gary Hill, both of Lincoln, won two and lost two, and Judy Brumm and Linda Hillyer, both of Lincoln, won 3 and lost none.

Professor Olson said that 9 teams have been used in 4 tournaments during the past 3 weeks, with a record of 44 wins and 21 loses.

Felonies

AUTO THEFT — Gary Edward Folsom, 22, of 1829 O (charged with violating the terms of the 3-year probation on which he was placed on this charge May 29, 1958), pleaded guilty to violation of probation, sentenced to one year in the Men's Reformatory by Judge John Polk.

BURGLARY — Lyle Thayer, 22, and Herbert A. Rivenberg, 37, both of 535 No. 17th (both charged with burglarizing 50 cans of Tarzan at 634 Oak Oct. 24), both pleaded guilty, Thayer sentenced to 4 months in the county jail and Rivenberg sentenced to 3 months in the county jail by Judge John Polk.

ASSAULT WITH INTENT TO KILL, WOUND OR MAIM—Robert D. Manwiller, 38, of 1643 O (charged with shooting at a deputy sheriff Apr. 19 with intent to kill, wound or maim), pleaded innocent, found guilty by jury Oct. 26, sentenced to 5 years in the State Penitentiary by Judge John Polk.

Misdemeanor

Manwiller Gets Five For Shooting Deputy

Lancaster District Judge John Polk overruled a request for a new trial by Robert D. Manwiller Tuesday and then sentenced him to 5 years in the State Penitentiary.

Manwiller, 38, of 1643 O, was found guilty by a jury Oct. 26 of a charge of assault with intent to kill, wound or maim. The charge carries a penalty of from 1-20 years in prison.

Court-appointed defense Atty. Claire Johnson had asked the court to grant Manwiller, who was charged in connection with a shooting incident involving two deputy sheriffs Apr. 19, a new trial because of alleged errors at his trial and because of newly-discovered evidence.

Johnson cited an affidavit signed by a Lincoln Air Force Base airman, Orville Parrish, as the "new evidence." In the statement Parrish alleged he was mistreated Oct. 6 by Dep Sheriff Robert Lane, a prosecution witness at Manwiller's trial.

County Atty. Elmer Scheele commented that he failed to see what this alleged incident involving Parrish had to do with Manwiller, and Judge Polk, in denying the new trial motion, said he also failed to see its materiality.

Scheele filed counter affidavits with the court prior to the sentencing in which Lane and Dep. Sheriff William Jones both denied any mistreatment of Parrish.

Manwiller was charged in connection with an incident at the Top Hat Tavern. He allegedly grabbed Lane's pistol as he was being arrested and fired at Jones. The bullet grazed Jones' stomach, causing only a minor wound.

'Fritters' Problem For CAB

CONSULTANTS REPORT SAYS

Washington (AP) — A firm of outside consultants said Tuesday the Civil Aeronautics Board fritters away too much of its time and resources.

Reporting on a 6-month study ordered by the budget bureau, McKinsey & Co. Inc. of Washington said it found that the agency's organization was faulty and its planning was scanty. It said the board should have 7 instead of 5 members and badly needs a top level policy and planning staff.

The 5 CAB commissioners and their 750 staff workers regulate and promote the airline industry.

Denies Justice

McKinsey said the board takes so long to decide air fare and route cases that there has been "denial of justice in some cases and economic losses in others."

Also, it said the board should be more aggressive in developing research programs "directed toward the prevention of future air tragedies." It said work in this direction is hampered by the amount of manpower required to investigate past accidents.

On this point, the consultant group said 80% more manpower is needed to investigate an accident involving a turbo-prop or jet plane than is the case with piston-driven aircraft.

The report was submitted to the budget bureau and the CAB, which will decide what action may be necessary. The cost of the study hasn't been determined but is not to exceed $53,200.

Backlog

Noting the heavy backlog of unfinished business facing the board, McKinsey said the CAB has failed to make full use of its staff. The report showed members spend less than 1% of their time in giving administrative direction to the staff.

"The lack of a top-level policy and planning staff has hampered the board in evaluating the agency's overall policy needs and in effectively planning and coordinating staff programs designed to meet these needs," McKinsey said.

Burney, Sanders Ask Road Safety For Thanksgiving

Governor Burney appealed Tuesday to all Nebraskans, and especially to the Thanksgiving weekend motorists, to think about the benefits of freedom from accident experience.

Burney said personal happiness during this holiday period and throughout the year is dependent upon a complete family circle and reasonable security.

"Yet family unity and family security are jeopardized every time a motorist drives too fast for conditions, takes chances in passing, follows too closely or joins traffic when he is fatigued or after he has been drinking," Burney said.

A similar appeal came from Col. C. J. Sanders, Nebraska Safety Patrol chief.

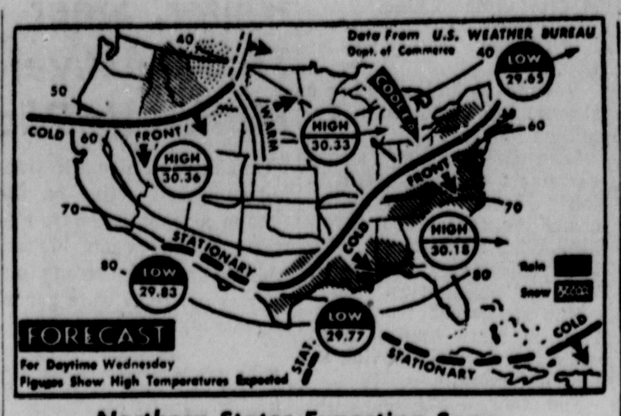

Last year Nebraska recorded no traffic deaths on Thanksgiving Day although one fatality occurred on the following weekend.

"If each one will do his part, whether driving or walking, Nebraska can repeat a fatality-free Thanksgiving Day this year," Col. Sanders said.

Nebraska counted 19 traffic deaths in the first 18 days of November.

Johnson Confers On Issues With De Gaulle

Paris (UPI) — Vice-President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson and French President Charles de Gaulle met Tuesday for nearly an hour in a "very cordial discussion of key world issues."

The meeting in the Elysee Presidential Palace was the first between the two men.

Johnson said afterward that de Gaulle had asked him to extend congratulations to John F. Kennedy on his election and "expressed wishes for the continuation of the very warm and cordial relationship between the two countries of ours."

"I deeply appreciated being in the presence of one of the world's greatest leaders," the Texas Senator told newsmen.

"We discussed a wide range of problems concerning the peoples of the world."

The meeting took place on de Gaulle's 70th birthday. Johnson told newsmen he was aware of the anniversary and extended to de Gaulle felicitations and congratulations.

Johnson, who is in Paris for the annual NATO Parliamentarians' Conference, was accompanied by U.S. Ambassador Amory Houghton.

After leaving the palace they joined Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and U.S. Ambassador to NATO W. Randolph Burgess for an official lunch given by French Premier Michel Debre.

The NATO Parliamentary Conference, meanwhile, discussed a political charter for the alliance that was designed to seize the psychological lead from the Russians in the cold war.

General proposals for the charter were presented in a report submitted by the political committee of the conference, now in its second day.

Essential aims of the charter are to broaden the activity and influence of the NATO alliance in the economic and political fields.

Similar ideas for broadening the scope of the alliance were put forward in speeches by Johnson and Norwegian Foreign minister Halvard Lange.

Ronin: 'Adults Must Raise Sights To Benefit Children'

More moral judgments are made by children today before they reach the age of 18 than their grandparents made in an enitre lifetime, County Judge Herbert Ronin said Tuesday night.

Speaking before members of the Dawes Jr. High Parent Club, Ronin said the strength of America lies in its morals and values and that teenagers often go wrong because they are living in a "delinquent society."

"We have to raise our own standards," he told the parents, "if we ever can hope to make any progress with our children."

Ronin listed 8 "tell-tale signs of delinquency" that parents should be alert for and take immediate steps to correct. They were:

1. Truancy
2. Unexplained articles — articles — possibly stolen — which the child can give no reason for possessing.
3. Late hours
4. Cruelty to animals or other children
5. Flagrant misbehavior
6. Sloppy appearances
7. Failure to bring friends into the home — possibly a sign that the friends wouldn't be approved by the parents.
8. Evidence of alcohol or drugs.

"A good recipe for laying out your child's life," said Ronin, "is to accept nothing but the best."

Fairbury Journal On Semi-Weekly Schedule Nov. 29

Lincoln Star Special

Fairbury — The Fairbury Journal announces that effective Tuesday, Nov. 29, the newspaper will become a semi-weekly publishing both Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

With the progress of The Journal's expansion program of new and larger quarters and new equipment, this change has been anticipated for several years.

The Fairbury Journal has been a weekly paper under continuous family management since 1897 when W. F. Cramb acquired the paper. Since that time and until his death in 1953, he was owner and publisher. The paper is now owned by The Fairbury Journal Inc., and is managed by his grandson, William C. Nuckolls. Publishers are Pauline C. Nuckolls and Cora H. Cramb, editor is L. K Cramb and associate editor is Clyde R. Moore.

Pay For Teachers Promised

. . . By Gov. Davis

Baton Rouge, La. (AP) — Gov. Jimmie Davis said Tuesday night New Orleans Public School teachers will be paid immediately, but it will be up to the legislature to provide the funds.

The Orleans Parish Superintendent of Schools, Dr. James F. Redmond, said he was "exceedingly pleased" Davis "found some way to make more money available to us."

Redmond, faced a payroll Wednesday without funds, after local, state and federal authorities hassled over integration. Banks declined to advance funds because, bankers said, they didn't know who was running the schools.

Although Davis said the 4,500 employes would be paid immediately, the legislature doesn't convene until noon Wednesday, and it appeared virtually impossible, even if funds are voted, to distribute the checks throughout the state on the day the teachers were supposed to be paid.

In an announcement from the executive mansion here, Davis said checks will be prepared beginning Wednesday and will be delivered by or before the end of the week.

Prior to Davis statement, Rep. John Garrett, chairman of the joint legislative committee on segregation, said at Baton Rouge: "The Legislature wants to see that New Orleans teachers are paid. We know the vast majority are not in sympathy with integration."

Garrett, who made his announcement on the eve of the reconvening of the 30-day special session, spoke after Dr. James Redmond, public school superintendent, said no money was in sight for the teachers' November checks.

Qualification

Sen. Wendell Harris, a member of the State Sovereignty Commission, qualified Garrett's announcement by saying only teachers who teach in segregated schools will be paid.

Many teachers said the announcement of a payless November came as no surprise. The consensus seemed they would continue to work and eventually receive their salaries.

State banks, worried by legal claim and counter claim, refused to loan $1,900,000 to meet the monthly teacher payroll due Wednesday. The loan would have been made against future earmarked tax revenues. It is a normal procedure this time of year.

Hayes To Appeal Wilson's Sentence

Omaha (AP) — Edward T. Hayes, assistant Douglas County public defender, says he will appeal to the Nebraska board of pardons and paroles within the next 10 days to commute Luther Wesley Wilson's death sentence to life imprisonment.

Wilson is scheduled to die in the electric chair Jan. 13 for the February, 1958, hold-up murder of Raymond Rasmussen, part-time clerk in a liquor store.

Wilson's conviction has been upheld by the state supreme court and an application for a review by the U.S. Supreme Court has been denied.

Iowa-Nebraska Boundary Hassle Remains Unsettled

Des Moines (AP)—The Iowa Legislative committee to study the boundary line between Iowa and Nebraska met Tuesday ostensibly to make definite recommendations but postponed any action for at least another month.

A dispute between the two states involves a question of which has prior claim on the town of Carter Lake which now belongs to Iowa and is close to Council Bluffs.

A change in the channel of the Missouri River put it on the Nebraska side. At a recent hearing Carter Lake citizens said they wanted to remain in Iowa.

State Sen. Frank Hoxie of Shenandoah, chairman of the legislative Iowa-Nebraska Boundary Line Committee, said after a meeting that his group wants to await outcome of studies being made by the Iowa Development Commission and the Iowa Conservation Commission.

The Development Commission has been studying possibilities of economic and industrial growth in western Iowa.

Industrial Site

State Rep. Willard Freed, D-Gowrie, a member of both the boundary line committee and the Development Commission, said Carter Lake is being considered as a prospective site for a large industry.

The Conservation Commission has been studying recreational improvements along that part of the Missouri River.

"We certainly don't want to improve an area that is going to become a part of Nebraska," said State Sen. Robert Moore of Dunlap, a committee member.

A similar boundary line committee in Nebraska has said it will not agree to a boundary which leaves Carter Lake in Iowa.

Carter Lake residents have expressed concern that if their town is given to Nebraska it will be annexed by Omaha.

Ex-Shrine Chief Collapses At Ball; Injures 3 In Fall

Los Angeles (AP) — A former Shrine official collapsed, pitched over a balcony railing and fell 17 feet onto 3 women in the audience below at the annual Potentate's Ball in Shrine Auditoriaum Tuesday night.

Earl Ray, 62, a Southwest Los Angeles plumbing contractor and former Captain of the Al Malaikah Shrine Temple Victory Patrol, was pronounced dead at the scene. Apparently he had suffered a heart attack.

The 3 women were injured. They are Mrs. Elmo Kelting, 54, and Mrs. Margaret Hilborn, 57, both of Los Angeles, and a third woman not immediately identified.

An audience of 10,000 was on hand and the curtain was about to rise for entertainment preceding the dance.

Ray was walking down the balcony stairs to a loge seat when he pitched forward, struck the railing and fell over. The audience was stunned but sat quietly.

Ray's widow, Mary, insisted that the show and dance go on.

Costs Of Building Roads Rises Slightly In State

The costs of building highways in Nebraska have risen slightly so far this year, records in the Department of Roads showed.

However, the cost index for the first 9 months of the year was still below the figures for the years 1956 and 1957, and John W. Hossack, acting state engineer, said the increase has not been enuogh to make any difference in the state's program.

The costs are figured as average contract unit prices, with the average of the years 1937-41 considered as 100 on the index.

The index was 220.4 the first quarter of this year, 239.6 the second, and 237.5 the 3rd, for an average of 232.5.

The 3-quarter average was thus nearly 8 points above the 224.2 for the entire year of 1959, but was 2.7 points below the 229.8 of 1958.

It was about 5 points under the 1957 index of 237.7, and nearly 9 points above the 1956 index of 241.1, the peak year.

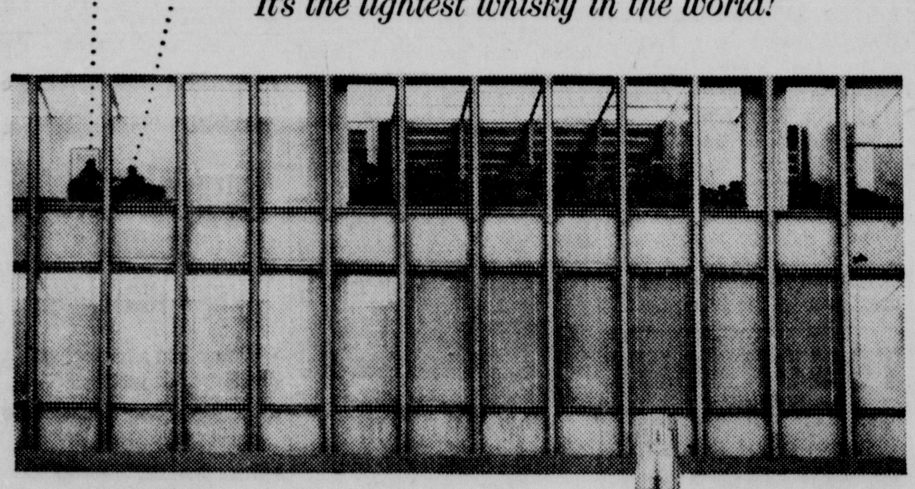

Other index figures in recent years were 191.3 in 1950, 223.7 in 1951, 223.8 in 1953, 204.4 in 1954, and 212.2 in 1955.

Hossack said the first 3 quarters don't tell the whole story, as they may contain various types of projects which throw the figures for a year's average work out of balance.

The index is figured on costs of excavation, culvert concrete, culvert pipe, Class A gravel surfacing, Portland cement concrete pavement, asphaltic oil, bridge concrete and structural steel.

The Story of
5
FABULOUS
FORDS
And How They Grew—

We've always considered '57 a vintage year for fine Fords—so, when this immaculate Del Rio Ranch Wagon came along, we bought it and we like it . . . Soon to our lot came a beautiful all white Fordor Victoria with power steering & brakes. And it took its rightful place in the front row. Not many days later there appeared on the horizon the slickest pair of Tudor Victorias we'd seen since '57—one all Inca Gold & gleaming and one solid black. If 2 are good, we reasoned, 4 are better. So now there were more but we weren't through yet. After much conversation we managed to trade for a real 'Baby Doll' Fairlane 500 Sunliner Convertible. All white, new white top, big engine, straight stick, power windows—who could resist such a car? So now you know—we have to sell them so we can buy more beautiful '57 Fords. We love 'em — you will too if you'll but drive by and consider—financing of course—and a good trade on your old car, paid for or not. Better see us soon at 26c
